FIVE DOCTORS TRY TO SAVE LIFE OF MRS. HARDING

Chances for Recovery of President's Wife Still In Grave Doubt

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Surrounded by a staff of five physicians, Mrs. Warren G. Harding was waging a valiant fight for life in the White House this afternoon. There has been very little change in her condition since early this morning, according to the attending physicians, and her chances for recovery were still considered in grave doubt early this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding is hovering between life and death at the White House this morning. Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, it was officially announced at the White House that Mrs. Harding had "a fairly good night" and that her condition was "as favorable as could be expected."

At the same hour the gates of the White House were closed to visitors for the first time since Mrs. Harding entered the White House on March 4, 1921. She expressly ordered them opened at that time.

Her condition was described by the attending physicians early this morning as "extremely critical" and fears were freely expressed that she may not recover.

May Need Operation
An immediate operation may be resorted to, Dr. Charles Mayo is reported to Washington from Rochester, Minn., but probably will not reach the White House until tomorrow morning. An operation may become necessary before that time, it was said.

The official White House statement follows:
"Mrs. Harding had a fairly good night. The complications of yesterday are much less threatening this morning. On the whole her condition is as favorable as can be expected at this time."

President Harding cancelled all engagements today and remained with Mrs. Harding at the White House.

At 10:45 o'clock Secretary Christian informed newspaper men that Mrs. Harding's condition was "still critical, and that her temperature was rising."

The president remained at Mrs. Harding's bedside throughout the night, retiring for a few hours. (Continued on Page 14)

SAY MINERS ARE ALIVE EVEN NOW

Tests Show No Corpses in Shaft of Argonaut; to Push Rescue Work

JACKSON, Calif., Sept. 9.—That the forty-seven miners entombed at the bottom of the main shaft of the Argonaut gold mine nearly one mile underground, are alive today, after thirteen days have elapsed since they were first trapped by fire is the belief of Dr. L. H. Duschak, consulting chemical engineer. He said that chemical tests made in the Muldoon shaft established the fact that there are no corpses in the Argonaut.

To lend further impetus to the work of rescue, the managements of the Kennedy and Argonaut mines have posted a $5000 reward for the crew which first reaches the unfortunate men.

With the declaration of the chemical engineer came optimistic statements from mine officials. They stated it was their belief that the men were alive, basing this belief on the chemical tests taken at the 2400 foot level of the Muldoon shaft.

No Poisonous Gases
For the first time since the beginning of the fire the non-presence of poisonous gases was noted by exhaustive chemical analysis, they said.

Rescue crews working on the 3600 foot level of the adjoining Kennedy shaft reached an uncharted bulkhead, presumably erected during a previous fire. It is believed this bulkhead served to check the flood of water used in extinguishing this fire and that better progress will be made beyond the bulkhead toward the 75-foot wall of quartz separating the two mines than has been possible before.

Leaves to Attend Carnegie Institute

Miss Margaret Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Walton of 1003 East California avenue, left last night for Pittsburgh, Pa., where she will take a year's graduate work at the Carnegie Institute.

Miss Walton, who graduated from Pomona College in June, is specializing in psychology and at the eastern institution she will study in the department of personal research.

..... BULLETINS By International News Leased Wire

Slayer Arrested
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—Arrested on a charge of committing a hold-up in El Paso, Texas, "Little Phil" Alguin, slayer of Police Sergeant John J. Fitzgerald, was said to be a prisoner today of the Mexican government in a cell at Juarez, Mexico, according to information reaching here.

Jailed for Massacre
MARION, Ill., Sept. 9.—Two more men indicted by the special grand jury investigating the Herrin "massacre" were arrested here today. The arrests brought the total to thirteen. Forty-five other men were being sought throughout the coal region by deputy sheriffs armed with warrants. The latest arrests were those of Fred McLaughlin, 27, and William Travelstead, both miners.

Confesses Murder
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 9.—Complete confession that he shot and killed Ferrand Regihard, 19-year-old son of Professor Jacob Regihard, of the University of Michigan, was made here today by Earl King, 21, of Chicago, according to an announcement by Sheriff Bridgman. King was found hiding in the sand dunes near Lake Michigan. Police are seeking a companion implicated by John Regihard, brother of Ferrand.

HI-YI CLUB BOYS BACK FROM TRIP

Recreation and Instruction
On Catalina Island Big
Aid to 104 Lads

Representatives of the Hi-Yi club of this district who have been attending the Y. M. C. A. training camp on Catalina Island returned last night at 8 o'clock after a week of mixed recreation and instruction at the island camp. Rex C. Kelley, Y. M. C. A. secretary for this district, who had been one of the leaders of the camp, returned to Glendale yesterday morning.

Seventeen districts in Southern California were represented at the camp, the 104 boys being divided for study purposes into groups of fifteen, each group under the leadership of one of the secretaries or other leaders. A regular program was followed, consisting of study and mental training in the morning, recreation in the afternoon and campfire in the evening.

Religious Education
After breakfast each morning, the boys assembled in their classes for Bible study. Following this was an assembly period in which each boy was given a chance to ask questions on religious matters, which were answered by Roy E. Dickerson of Denver, Colorado, a member of the International Y. M. C. A. committee.

Rex C. Kelley, the local secretary, followed Mr. Dickerson's session with a class in "Hi-Yi Methods," conducted every morning. Dr. Daniel F. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational church of Pasadena, had charge of the last class of the morning, in the study of correct methods of leadership.

The afternoons were the playtime of the youths. Swimming, fishing, hiking, and most of all, goat hunting, kept them busy from noon until evening. About fifty of the boys would drive a flock of the mountain goats into a canyon, and then catch the animals by hand. The prize goat of the camp was caught by Howard Butterfield of Glendale, and presented by him to the Long Beach delegation as a mascot for their football team.

Tells of Trip Abroad
One of the features of the camp, according to Mr. Kelley, was a series of talks by Ralph Cole of Los Angeles, camp director and state boys' secretary for the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Cole returned from a trip to Europe in time to reach camp on the day after its opening. He related a number of interesting experiences which occurred and things which he saw while in Europe.

Thursday, the day before the close of camp, the delegations spent in conference, formulating their plans and policies for the coming year's Hi-Yi club work. "Co-operation With School Officials" was the subject most stressed in the plans made by the Glendale district delegation.

The boys attending the camp from this district were: Carlisle Bailey, Eagle Rock; Leland Durrell and Karl Burnett, Burbank; and Paul Edmonds, Cecil Wilson, Morton Mortimer, store building, 401 South Glendale avenue, and Howard Butterfield of Glendale.

STATE RAIL BOARD REFUSES CHANGE IN P. E. RATES

Glendale and Other Sections
In Southland Loses by Commission Ruling

"We see no justification for making any changes in the interurban rates," asserted H. W. Brunidge, Irving Martin, Chester H. Rowell and H. S. Benedict in their recent decision as members of the state railway commission. The official decision in this case, which was a protest by a number of the cities of southern California against the recent increase in Pacific Electric rates, has been received by Attorney Bert Woodard of 111 East Broadway, former city attorney.

"The contention made that some of the interurban rates are excessive and produce a greater net revenue than the company is entitled to is not based on fact," it continues. "The only fair and non-discriminatory rate-making system for interurban service in our opinion is on the mileage basis."

Board Reserves Right
"The commission reserves the right to make any further orders in this proceeding relating to service and rates as may appear just and reasonable."

"Density of traffic in interurban service cannot be a controlling factor in fixing the mileage rate. On a system like the Pacific Electric, which radiates in all directions from the center of the city of Los Angeles, uniform mileage rates must apply. The lines with a greater density of traffic automatically render their patrons a superior service because such service is more frequent."

"We are convinced that the only natural and justified segregation of the services rendered by this company falls into three different and distinct classes: The freight service, the interurban and the local or street car service. Each of these services, we believe, should be self-sustaining. Just and reasonable rates should be fixed for each and no one should be forced to carry the burdens of another."

"We further conclude that as to local or street car service, not only in the city of Los Angeles but each and every other city or community having a local street car service, should be treated as a unit and that the possible losses in one community should not be charged against another company." WORK STARTS ON NEW STRUCTURES

Building at Maryland and Harvard to House Stores and Apartments

Excavation has just been started for a building at Maryland and Harvard, which, when completed, will represent an investment of approximately $55,000. The building will be 50 by 126 and will house six stores and eight apartments. It is being built by the General Construction company, 219 North Brand boulevard, for the Wallace W. Plumb company. It is to be completed within ninety days, according to Alfred Davis of the construction company.

A model five-room bungalow, considered by architects to be an ideal type for southern California is also being built for the Wallace W. Plumb company, according to Mr. Schaff. It is to be located at 404 California avenue, the total cost to be in the neighborhood of $7,500.

Building Completed Soon
According to W. T. Burton, of the Burton Realty company, 200 1/2 West Broadway, that company will soon complete a $30,000 flat building on Colorado street, at Central. It is to be a four-story building of stucco construction and will be modern throughout.

A two-story double house to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 is soon to be started, according to Mr. Burton, at the corner of Central and Doran. It is to be built for Mary E. Beal.

The same company expects to build a $11,000 home on Hillcrest near Sunset, in the near future, it is announced.

Building Permits Now at $114,870

Seven thousand four hundred dollars' worth of building permits were issued yesterday at the city hall bringing the amount for September so far to $114,870, and the total for the year to date to $4,070,576. Only three permits were issued yesterday. Here they are:

George C. Lyon, 5 rooms and garage, 339 North Cedar street.....$ 3,900
H. Wynn Grontage, remodeling, 1319 Orange Grove avenue.....500
Morton Mortimer, store building, 401 South Glendale avenue.....3,000

P. E. Fare Verdict Inconsistent, Says Glendale Manager

Dissatisfaction over the railroad commission's recent decision affecting Hollywood, Glendale and many other municipalities of southern California was expressed this morning by City Manager W. H. Reeves.

"The inconsistency of suggesting local service on an extension of the Edendale line to the city limits of Glendale and then refusing to allow Glendale to be given the same local service merely because it is outside the city limits of Los Angeles was pointed out by Mr. Reeves. He pointed out the fact that, even should the Atwater tract be given 5-cent local service, it would be necessary for passengers from Glendale to pay the present interurban rate."

The manner in which the commission has "side-stepped" Glendale's request for better depot facilities and better service by saying that these matters can be taken up directly with the company is another source of displeasure to Mr. Reeves, he says.

GIRL HEROINE OF THIS MELODRAMA

Did She Wear Overalls
Or White Gown? That Is Puzzling Query

Solution of a family melodrama yesterday afternoon at 229 South Central avenue rested on the technicality of whether the heroine was a brown overalls or a white gown.

The cast was headed by Barbara Benson, 2-year-old daughter of A. E. Benson, member of the Glendale Realty company, and she was ably supported by her parents, members of the realty company, the city police force and neighbors.

Along in the afternoon Mrs. Benson suddenly realized that Barbara was missing. Mr. Benson was summoned home from his office on Brand boulevard and with neighbors and the city police started a search for the little girl, whom the terror-stricken mother said was dressed in brown overalls.

Rescues Crying Child
About the same time Mrs. N. Gannon of 318 West Colorado street, wife of another member of the firm, was sitting on her front porch when she was suddenly attracted by sobbing, and soon saw a little white clad figure wandering along the sidewalk, apparently hunting for familiar faces and surroundings.

Mrs. Gannon rescued the crying child and after comforting her and trying in vain to identify her, finally entrusted her to the care of the Glendale police and then phoned Mr. Gannon that she had rescued a lost little girl, dressed in a white dress and carrying over to the officers, thinking that the first thing the child's parents would do would be to go to the police station.

The search of Mr. and Mrs. Benson for their little daughter continued through the afternoon and finally they had a call from police headquarters that a child had been brought in in a white dress, but Mr. Benson assured the officers that it was not Barbara, for she was wearing brown overalls.

Plot Thickens Up
And so the plot thickened, Mr. and Mrs. Gannon telling about the child in the white dress they had found and taken to the police station, and Mr. and Mrs. Benson growing more alarmed about their little brown overalled daughter, while Mr. Gannon and Mr. Benson, belonging to the same business firm, were unacquainted with each other's family and were unaware of the nearness of their homes.

It was not until in desperation that Mr. and Mrs. Benson visited the police station and heard Barbara give a cry of happiness upon seeing them that Mrs. Benson suddenly remembered that she had changed a white dress for the brown overalls earlier in the afternoon and in the excitement of Barbara's disappearance she could recall nothing but the brown overalls the little girl had worn in the morning to play.

On the other hand Mr. Gannon found that his business associate lives just around the corner, just near enough for the 2-year-old daughter to make a formal afternoon call.

John Robert White Speaks at Banquet

John Robert White of 347 North Orange street was among the speakers at the banquet given at Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, Wednesday night, by the Richardson-for-Governor club and also the citizens of that city in honor of Friend W. Richardson. Mr. Richardson was present and was the main speaker of the evening. Those from Glendale who attended this event included Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weller.

P. L. HATCH TELLS PROPOSED FARES FOR NEW LINE

General Manager Predicts
Rates If Electric Line
Becomes Reality

Service and fares over the new electric line to Los Angeles were discussed yesterday afternoon in an interview by P. L. Hatch, superintendent and general manager of the Glendale & Montrose railway.

"The schedule of passenger service is more or less of an unknown problem," declared Mr. Hatch. "We have made all estimates and plans upon a basis of forty round trips a day, which we consider a minimum. That provides for half-hour service during the middle of the day and after 7 o'clock at night and for twenty-minute service during the business part of the day—from 6 until 8 a. m. and from 4:30 until 7 p. m."

Denies Fare Increase
"Present fares are not disturbed at all. Some people have gotten the idea that we are trying to raise the fares. We are not. We are not planning to disturb present fares in the least. For instance, the fare from Brand and Broadway to Glorietta avenue is 5 cents. A passenger boarding a car between Broadway and Montrose road still will only have to pay a 5-cent fare to Glorietta avenue."

The proposed schedule of rates has been submitted already to the state railroad commission, and unofficially approved. This provides for the following fares from the terminus of the yellow car line at Glissel park:

Cash fare—to the southern city limits of Glendale, 5 cents; to Montrose road, which is north of Doran street, 10 cents; to Glorietta avenue, where Verdugo Park is located, 15 cents; to Montrose, 20 cents and to La Cresenta, 25 cents.

Thirty-five family book, good for ninety days—To Montrose road, $1.50 or 5 cents a ride; to Glorietta avenue, $3 or 10 cents a ride; to Montrose, $4.50 or 15 cents a ride, and to La Cresenta, $6 or 20 cents a ride.

Individual sixty-day book, good for forty days—To Glorietta avenue, $4.50 or 7 1/2 cents a ride; to Montrose, $6.50 or 11 cents a ride; to La Cresenta, $7.40 or 12 cents a ride.

'KIDNAP' COUPLE FOR AUTO PARADE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. McCown, Just Married, Are Victims of Friends

The wedding of Paul W. McCown, son of Mrs. M. W. McCown of 361 Pioneer drive, and Miss Cecil Taylor of Green Bay, Wis., took place at 8:30 o'clock last night, Friday, September 8, 1922, at the home of the bridegroom, Rev. C. M. Crist officiated at the single ring ceremony. The McCown home had been decorated for the occasion with a profusion of sweet peas, ferns and wedding bells.

The bride wore a fawn-colored crepe gown and carried pink roses. Miss Zelza Cross, formerly of Green Bay, Wis., was the bridesmaid and was attired in gray crepe and carried sweet peas. James McGowan of Glendale was the best man. "Oh Promise Me" and the wedding march from "Lohengrin" were played on the Victrola.

Automobile Parade
After the wedding, refreshments were served, during which a party of friends came in and carried the young couple off in an automobile and paraded them over the principal streets of Glendale, Los Angeles and Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. McCown left last night for Pasadena, leaving that city this morning for Wisconsin. They will return to Glendale after their honeymoon trip and will make their home at 361 Pioneer drive.

Lee, according to the police, had just stepped from the car and was walking toward the curbing when the automobile, which was driven by P. C. Perez, struck him. He was knocked to the pavement and the wheels of the car passed over his body. Perez stopped, picked up the injured man and carried him to the receiving hospital, where police surgeons found him suffering from a crushed chest, internal injuries and a number of minor abrasions. It was stated that there was little chance for his recovery. Perez was taken in custody.

CITY SCHOOL HEAD TELLS OF RULES FOR NEW TERM

Superintendent White Gives List of Regulations to Govern All Pupils

Richardson D. White, city superintendent of schools in Glendale, announces that the first term of school will open Monday, September 18. He says it is important that every child should enter school on the first day and thereafter be regular and punctual in attendance. Any absence may be a serious menace to the child's standing in class.

Special Permits—Owing to the crowded condition of some schools, it will be impossible to grant permits with the same freedom as heretofore to attend school in a district other than that of residence. Parents desiring such permits should apply at the superintendent's office. No permits will be issued until the second day of school term, at which time it will be possible to determine what conditions are. Parents are requested therefore, even though they have applied for permit, to send children the first two days of the term to the school in whose district they reside.

School Age—The legal age for entering school is 6 years. However, an allowance of three months is made. This means that in order to enter the first grade a child would be 6 on or before December 18, 1922. No beginner will be admitted after the close of the first month of term.

Kindergartens—Kindergartens will be opened at the Columbus avenue, Colorado street, Broadway, Cerritos avenue, Pacific avenue, Central avenue, Acacia avenue and Doran street schools. The law states the kindergarten age is from 4 1/2 to 6 years, interpreted to mean that child's fourth birthday must have occurred at least three months before opening of the term. In this case, on or before June 18, 1922. No allowance is made for over age. Any child 6 years old or older on the day term begins will not be admitted to the kindergarten.

Such child may of course enter school if parents so desire. In a choice between the kindergarten and the school, child must be between 5 years 9 months and 6 years old on day term begins. Parents are advised not to send children to kindergarten until they (Continued on Page 8)

BEATS WIFE AND TAKES OWN LIFE

Hits Woman With Hammer,
Then Commits Suicide;
Victim May Die

A near murder, followed by suicide, occurred early today just south of Glendale.

As a result, the body of Fred W. Jacobsmeier is now at the parlors of Pulliam, Kiehn and Erick and his wife is now in a critical condition at the home of a son in Los Angeles. The affair occurred at 3630 Seneca street, in the Atwater tract, Los Angeles, where Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jacobsmeier have resided for the past year.

Shortly after midnight, Mr. Jacobsmeier got out of bed, it is said, and picked up a claw hammer and hit his wife several times over the head. He then went into the bathroom, locked the door and ended his own life. It is reported, by using a razor.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Jacobsmeier proceeded to climb out of the bedroom window and make her way a couple of blocks to 3528 LaClade avenue, the home of a son, Arthur C. Jacobsmeier.

Police Find Body
The Los Angeles police department was notified and officers forced their way into the bathroom where they found the body of the suicide.

Because of the nature of the case, no inquest will be necessary. Mr. Jacobsmeier, who was 60 years of age, had been in ill health for about five years, and it is believed that his mind was temporarily deranged.

Mr. Jacobsmeier was a printer by trade and was employed by his son, H. C. Jacobsmeier, at a job shop at 5517 Santa Monica boulevard, Hollywood. A third son, Walter F. Jacobsmeier, lives in Riverside. Mr. Jacobsmeier was a native of St. Louis county, Missouri. The family came to California in 1906. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Realty Board and Chamber Asked to Meet

J. B. Brown, president of the Eagle Rock realty board has just received a letter from the state realty board requesting a meeting of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce and the entire membership of the local real estate organization to hear a speaker deliver a lecture on the proposed new transportation law.

The bill proposes to empower the state railway commission to issue franchises to all bus lines and motor truck freight lines in the state.

According to Mr. Brown, the question at stake is whether the people are to pay for the building of highways and to have the bus and freight lines tear them up without paying the bill.

ASK WHOLE TOWN TO AID MAKING FAIR SUCCESS

All Committees Appointed
Now for Various Booths
at Festival

The general recreation committee of the Central P. T. A. is working to get everything ready for the Harvest Home Festival at Eagle Rock. Many of the workers for the different departments have been selected, as follows:

The Two Balls, Mrs. Claude
Williams; Country Store, Mrs.
Glen Arbogast; Rest Room, Mrs.
K. W. Hunt; Ye Olde Book
Shope, Mrs. Mary Fiske and Mrs.
H. I. Cruzan; Wild and Trained Animals, Harold Ide Cruzan; Variety Store, Mrs. L. M. Maynard and Mrs. Sampson; Child Welfare,
Dr. Louis D. Wagner; Dainty
Moore Dinner, Mrs. W. H. Dorrance; Waffles and Scones, Mrs.
David Irvine and Mrs. Martha
Cowan; Pumpkin Pie Booth, Mrs.
A. G. Bailey and Mrs. Ed Ellison;
Picture Show, Mrs. Lerchen;
confetti, Mrs. M. F. Reynolds;
Hot Dogs and Hamburgers, Milton H. Berry, Jr.; Publicity Agent, George Van Sands; Handwork, Mrs. Weil; Wheel of Chance, Winston Squire; Cold
Drinks, Mrs. A. Howard and Mrs.
H. Nash; Booth Construction,
Jack Reynolds; Lighting of Grounds, W. H. Dorrance and Mr.
Cammack.

Those who have a pet and want to "dress up" and march in the parade may do so. There are also fifty families of Eagle Rock expected each to donate a home-baked pumpkin pie. Every family in Eagle Rock is asked to give about two containers of home canned fruit of some kind.

Old books and magazines for the Olde Book Shoppe and used furniture of any kind is solicited.
Anything not sold will be turned over to charity. Vegetables and cooked foods for the vegetable stand and delicatessen counter will be secured by donations.

Anyone caring to take part in any of the departments are asked to please phone to the chairman of that department. All the carpenters in town are invited to come some evening the first of the week and put up the booths. Jack Reynolds has consented to take charge of this.

Four Building Permits Taken Out Yesterday

Four building permits totaling $6500 were taken out at Eagle
Rock city hall yesterday.

Elmer T. Grove will erect a six-room bungalow and garage at 250 North Townsend avenue, estimated to cost $3500.

Minerva Treadwell is to build a four-room house at 1621 Avenue
46, to cost $2500.

A temporary dwelling on the rear of his lot in the May Fair Park subdivision will be erected by J. C. Kranter, who will build and design it himself. The estimated cost is $400.

A garage will be built on the rear of his lot at 247 Satsuma avenue by the owner, W. A.
Doran, the cost being estimated at $100.

Preacher and Wife Back From Vacation

Reverend John Hedley, pastor of the First Methodist church and Mrs. Hedley, have just returned home from a seventeen-day motor trip. They drove to San Francisco over the coast route, stopping off at Santa Barbara, Paso Robles and Pismo Beach. Several days were spent in San Francisco.
The return trip was made over the inland route.

Rev. Hedley will occupy his pulpit Sunday morning taking as the text for his sermon, "Education and Religion." It is understood that this will be an unusually interesting sermon, especially so to school teachers and others interested in education. The public is urged to be present.

At the evening services held at 7:30 o'clock the subject, "Thou Art—Thou Shalt Be—What?"
Prayer meeting is held Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The monthly meeting of the official board will be held after the Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

BIG ENROLMENT IS PREDICTED BY OFFICIALS

Youth of City Returning to Pursuit of Knowledge
Finds Fine Program

When Glendale Union high school opens at 7:45 o'clock
Monday morning, the sons and daughters of several hundred new residents will be surprised to find one of the finest and most varied programs of study to be encountered anywhere.

In 1921 there registered more than 1100 students, an increase of 40 per cent over the preceding year. It will not be surprising to see a similar increase this year, over last.

From Sociology to Sewing
In foreign languages and mathematics improved facilities are offered. Sociology and economics have been combined as "social problems." General science covers physics, biology, physiology.

For the fair students, cooking, sewing, housekeeping, give the sort of practical training that practical mothers delight to see their girls have. For the mechanically inclined boy, the shops offer a store of preliminary training that will greatly facilitate any technical university course or give the young man an excellent foundation for learning any trade.

Body Not Forgotten
Physical development has not been overlooked, and both boys and girls will find this course requires a daily period this year in place of the three-time-a-week period of last season.
La Crescenta, Montrose, Sun-land, Tujunga and Eagle Rock are within the sweep of territory from which the school draws its students. The personnel of the teaching force, together with the fine standards of the students themselves, have made it a popular school.

This year, students will do their studying at home and will not report except for recitations.
Teaches How to Talk, Write
Despite the large additional enrollment this year, the highly sys-tematized—yet greatly simplified—program offered is expected to increase efficiency.

The value of simple and expressive, but correct, commercial English is emphasized rather than a surplus of highbrow theories on literature. The meaning of plain English and how to use it correctly and expressively is the aim rather than the expression of the teachers' individual ideas of what a plain-spoken author had in mind when he said something else.

New Ideas Practical
High school attendance is increasing year by year, even in proportion to population, not so much because the value of education is better appreciated nowadays as because practical studies, covering a wide field of human endeavor, make scholarship interesting and give more practical training. The old-fashioned idea of a high school limited to preparatory courses for those intending to go to universities or colleges, has been replaced by the wider field of studies that prepares young folks for the practical things of life—for business, trades, and occupations—for self-reliance in homework, with needle, or in public.

The high school of today is for every man's son and for every woman's daughter. It doesn't teach simply how to learn—it teaches HOW TO DO.

A NOTED LAWYER

On "WHY THIS LAW FIRM RECOMMENDS LIFE INSURANCE."
"Very often in business contacts we find some powerful outstanding personality and executive who is primarily responsible for the success of a business enterprise.
"If he is lost to the business it will be disorganized if not destroyed."
"Recently a client of ours was the executive head of a MILLION dollar Piano Company in the East. He was so seriously injured in an auto accident that his life was despaired of. Within three days, and while he was still unconscious, various banks and creditors called their loans. This resulted in the bankruptcy of the corporation, and a forced immediate liquidation of its assets will not realize over 20c on the dollar. The confidence of the banks and creditors in this man was such that he was regarded as the chief asset of the business."

Mrs. Bivin, who was a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler when they lived in Phoenix a number of years ago, is making a vacation tour of various cities in southern California, and will probably stop over in Glendale again before returning home.

SAMSON TIRE IN BIG DEMAND NOW

Popular Priced, Ford Size Is Said to Be Meeting With Much Favor

"For a considerable time owners of Fords and other small cars have been seeking a quality tire at a moderate price," says William H. Hooper of William H. Hooper & Co., 234 East Broadway, local distributor of Samson tires, "and since the introduction of the popular priced 'S. O. S.' Samson-built 30x3½ size, small car owners who hastened to equip with 'S. O. S.' tires, claim that they have found in this tire, an economical solution of their tire problem.
"The 'S. O. S.' is a Samson-built tire. As its name implies, it was built in response to the demand of small car owners for a tire of Samson reputation, and one that would sell at a price in conformity with the popular cry for a low first cost tire of high grade.
"Samson engineers answered the call by building the 'S. O. S.' tire, in which every economy was used, but nothing was slighted to make it a big, vigorous, long-wearing, non-skid product to stand up under hard service.
"That the builders of this tire figured rightly in their deductions is shown by the demand for

CHINESE PITCHER REAL BAD GUY, SAYS RECORD

Oriental Twirler Fans Them
Rather Regular; Tough
Game Is Expected

"Those Chinese are coming out here Sunday with the expectation of taking one away from Glendale," announced John A. Cobb to some of his Glendale Merchants yesterday. The gloomy one referred to the L. A. Chinese baseball team which the Merchants will play tomorrow afternoon at the Merchants' ball grounds, Park avenue and San Fernando road.

As ball players, the Chinese are certainly not to be sneezed at. Last Sunday, while Glendale was taking a defeat at the hands of the Cleary Athletic club, the Chinese were cleaning up the peppy Bradford Baking team of Los Angeles.

Fans 'Em Regular
F. Don, pitcher for the orientals, struck out thirteen men in the game last Sunday. A short time ago, in a game with Huntington Beach, he did even better than that, sending seventeen players back to the bench in the one game. P. Lowe, catcher, is said to be back up Don's offerings in lively fashion, a "world-beater" of a battery.

These two form the battery which the Merchants must face tomorrow afternoon. For the entertainment of the Chinese, Cobb is to present either Walt Heidler or Wes Agesson, and King as the Glendale battery. Walt was out of the game for several weeks on account of injuries, and has come back in wonderful shape, but Agesson is about due for a try. Cobb will not decide for certain until both work out tomorrow afternoon, and will then pick whichever is in the best shape.

Predicts Real Battle
Cobb predicts a real battle Sunday, for he believes that the Chinese are one of the really dangerous teams of the Greater Southern California Baseball association. The past week he has keyed his men to a high pitch, and regardless of how good the Chinese are, they are going to have a real battle before them Sunday.

Manager Cobb is elated over things, too. A baseball scout from Arizona has been attending the game of the semi-professional teams in Southern California, and was present at the Glendale-Cleary game last Sunday. Since then he has approached the local manager with a proposition, stating that he believes Glendale the best team in the association.

The proposition which is getting the Merchants up on their toes is for a three-game series, to be played by the Merchants at Needles, Oatman, and Kingman, Arizona. Cobb is seriously considering the offer, and states that he may very possibly accept and make the trip in two or three weeks.

Meanwhile the Merchants are doing their best to keep in form, for it is generally believed that Cobb's decision rests on the way the team plays during the next game or so. For that reason, members of the local team predict that the Chinese had better carry their little Buddhas along tomorrow, to be used to pray for rain.

Leading Athletes of U. S. Contest Today

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 9.—Athletic union is bound to be made at Weequahic park here today when the leading track and field athletes of the United States meet in nineteen events which carry with them the national amateur athletic union senior championships of the United States. Two hundred will compete. Unusual in the being centered in the sprints, quarter mile run, one mile run and the three-hurdle race which will be decided today.

The 440-yard run stands above all others. Seventeen of the greatest quarter milers in the country are scheduled to go to the post.

Iowa Grappler Seeks Match With Johnson

Again an answer in the form of a challenge comes to Glendale as a result of the yearnings of a local wrestler for a good match. Two months ago "Toots" Mondt heard about John Hackenschmidt of Glendale, who was almost pining away for a good bout. "Toots" wrote a challenge and the final result was a match between the two, staged in Glendale.

Carl Johnson, former wrestling instructor at the New York Athletic club, came to Glendale several months ago, and has since been on the lookout for a good match. He thought he saw his chance in Hackenschmidt, but the latter disappointed him by foregoing all other bouts for a chance at Mondt. So Johnson has been practically bootless.

Now comes a letter from the little city of Camarillo, written by one Allen Foss, who modestly declares that he is Iowa's champion 150-pound wrestler. Foss challenges any middleweight in the country, and particularly Carl Johnson, whom Walter Miller couldn't find time for when Carl repeatedly challenged him not long ago.

Local wrestling fans and alleged critics state that Foss will be panning if he tries to keep up with the speedy local man. The Iowa, however, seems to have lots of confidence, and is eager to arrange a match. Johnson and his manager are considering the offer, and it is believed that a bout will be staged, probably in Glendale, within the next few weeks, if possible.

Ken Williams Swats Thirty-Sixth Homer

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—Ken Williams took a step closer toward the title of home-run king of major league baseball yesterday afternoon when he knocked out his thirty-sixth circuit clout in the last half of the seventh inning of the Brown-Tiger game. Johnson was Williams' victim.

Girl Scouts Give Alice Hill Welcome

Mrs. L. E. Hill of 333 Riverdale drive entertained the members of Troop No. 1 of the Glendale Girl Scouts yesterday afternoon, in honor of her daughter, Miss Alice Hill, who has just returned from Chicago, where she spent the summer. The affair was a complete surprise to the guest of honor, who returned home from the high school to find her fellow scouts assembled en masse to joyfully welcome her home.

Brownie present were Frederica Browne, Lucile Beach, Lois Naudain, Mary Stanley, Sarah Chandler, Lina Borthick, Margaret Brown, Marjorie Temple, Florence McLaughlin, Ruth Dana, Katherine Stofft, Alexander Bagley, Marjorie Hart, Bertha Brown, Carolyn Ayars, Emma Laura Cooper, Beryl Goodale, Katherine Bender, Alice Hill, Miss Gladys Sharpe.

BOYS GET THRILLS OF LIFE

That was exactly what 2500 or more youngsters enjoyed in Shibe Park, Philadelphia, when as guests, they sat in the bleachers and saw the Athletics defeat the Detroit team. Although Ty Cobb failed to make a home run, the kids did not care, for didn't Cobb himself come over to where the little crumples were sitting and show them the very bat with which he slugs balls all over the lot.

DE VALERA DOES NOT GO TO MEET

Dail Convenes for First Session; Eject Member Who Is Cause of Scene

By DANIEL O'CONNELL.
For International News Service.
DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—Eamon de Valera, commander-in-chief of the Irish republican irregulars, failed to put in an appearance today when the new Dail Eireann (free state parliament) convened for its first session. Professor Hayes was elected speaker, succeeding Professor MacNeill.

William T. Cosgrave, home secretary and acting secretary for foreign affairs, was elected president at the first meeting. He created a scene when he refused to sign the membership roll.

"I charge that this Dail is the instrument of the British government," shouted Ginnell. He was ruled out of order, but continued his speech.

Finally, the recalcitrant member was forcibly ejected.

Sweetzer Leads in Golf Championship

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 9.—Jesse Sweetzer of the Siawony club of New York, present Metropolitan champion, continued to forge his way toward the national amateur championship this morning when he led the wise, cunning and brilliant Chick Evans, Chicago veteran, three holes at the end of the morning round in the thirty-six hole contest for the title. Sweetzer has been the surprise of the meetings. He looked dangerous in the first round of match play when he knocked off Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion, without having hardly a work out. Then he gave Jesse Guilford, Woodland star, and last year's champion, a drubbing and in the semi-finals he was just as hard on Bobby Jones.

Tagging All Bases

By treating the venerable Walter Johnson in a rough and unseemly manner, the Yankees beat their way back to the top of the American league, Carl Mays being right enough to hold the Senators in check.

The Browns had not expected to lose yesterday as Shocker was sent to the mound, but it was an off day with the pitching ace and the Tigers clubbed their way to victory.

The Phils made the Giants look foolish. Nehf lacked a lot of being able to do anything like fooling himself.

Heavy hitting enabled the White Sox to take another from Cleveland.

The Pirates lost a chance to gain on the falling Giants when they allowed the Cubs to come from behind and slug out a victory.

Pfeffer's pitching spelled a Cardinal win at Cincinnati.

The Red Sox made four hits produce two runs—just enough to trim the Athletics.

Johnny Meyers and Walter Dodge to Stage Four Round Contest

The four-round bout between Johnny Meyers and Walter Dodge, which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight in Verdugo park, will be a real sure enough fight. Dr. James A. Belyea, of 11 East Broadway has this opinion. He has charge of this part of the program in behalf of the Glendale Exchange club.

"It will be a real fight," remarked Dr. Belyea. "It will be kept out of the cellar place. PERIOD OF GREAT EXPANSION DUE IN TIRE TRADE

Manufacturers Begin to See Unusual Prosperity As Demands Increase

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Automobile tire manufacturers and dealers should be seeing the foundations for the greatest period of expansion in the history of the industry.

This is the prediction which is privately passed from man to man in the rubber center, but not one of the leaders is as yet ready to make the statement for publication.

A year ago these same men predicted that 1922 would see record tire production or a serious shortage. They feared to make the statement for publication. It has proven to be correct, however.

Not Being Quoted

Now these same men fear that making the statement that an era of expansion is at hand would appear ludicrous and for that reason are withholding the use of their names.

They themselves are afraid to act upon what they believe to be every sane indication regarding the future because they have gone through two years of depression in which the industry dropped in the Akron district alone more than $100,000,000.

Except for their period, however, the tire factories here and throughout the country would probably be contemplating wide expansion programs. The bases upon which the rubber leaders base this private optimism are few but fundamental.

All Tires Sold

The year 1922 will see at least 33,000,000 automobile tires manufactured and sold.

While at the peak more than 32,000,000 tires were made they were not sold and many were in warehouses when the depression came and therefore represent part of the losses of the industry.

This year, however, every tire which has been made has been sold except a normal turnover stock. All previous records have been shattered. The demand has at times seemed far ahead of the supply. Factory after factory reports in the Akron district and in other cities that they are behind in orders.

Recover Machines Worth Millions by Applying Dyer Law

Since the passage of the Dyer anti-theft automobile law in October, 1919, 210 automobiles, worth, at a fair second-hand valuation, $2,507,208, have been recovered by the bureau of investigation, United States department of justice, according to figures compiled by that bureau at the request of officials of the American Automobile association.

The department, according to these figures, has investigated 2391 cases which involved 4885 persons. There were 2773 persons arrested, of which 1533 were indicted and 1113 convicted. These convicted persons received sentences amounting in the aggregate to 2356 years, six months, eleven days, and paid fines to the amount of $41,140.

NIGHT BEST FOR TRIPS ON DESERT

Truck Drivers Make Trips After Sun Is Down as Heat Is Too Much

REDLANDS, Sept. 9.—Night driving is becoming a favorite outdoor sport of the truck drivers who ply between here and the Coachella and Imperial valleys. After leaving Banning and Beaumont, east of Redlands, there is a great expanse of desert country and the drivers have learned by bitter experience that during the heated months, night driving alone will be borne by man and truck.

At that the heat is terrific at times, but the tires, which would be melted away by the terrific heat of the great sand waste, come through in fine shape. The trucks gather at the western portals and also the eastern portals along toward dusk and start out on their long trip across the desert.

And they say that now practically all of the truck work over the desert to Mecca, Ellyria, El Centro and other Imperial Valley towns is at night, for the pleasure tourist also has discovered that it is best to wait for dark to go over the hottest places.

AUTOIST VISITORS SPEND MILLIONS IN SOUTHLAND

Huge Sum Left Here Each Year by Motorists and Tourists, Says Club

Visiting motorists and tourists are spending approximately $93,575,000 this year in the southern and central counties of California, according to official figures just issued by the Automobile club of Southern California.

Of this amount, autoists who arrive here over the transcontinental highways, are spending $43,575,000 and the remainder, $50,000,000, is expended by visitors arriving on the trains or by boat.

That these figures are ultra-conservative is the opinion of officials of the auto club. They declare that $3,000 non-resident autoists visited California last year, with an average of three people in each car, stopping in the state 70 days. It is estimated that each person spends $5 a day while here. This is a low figure.

Big Travel Increase
Only half of the total expended is estimated as left in Southern California, so it can be seen that the auto club has perhaps figured way below the amount that was actually brought into the state by visitors last year, and more will be brought in this year.

Auto travel into Southern California has increased 200 per cent annually since 1914, the date of the first sign-posting of the transcontinental highways by the auto club, it is stated, and long distance travel is still on the increase.

Watch Your Lights

Be careful that the spare does not hide all or part of the rear license plate. Recently the police of some of the towns and cities have paid more attention to this matter, so it may save you a fine to adjust matters correctly in advance.

They are also becoming more particular about the rear plate being sufficiently lighted at night. This plate should be illuminated by a white light making it legible at fifty feet. If this is not done, the driver is subject not only to great delay but there is every possibility of a fine.

WALLACE IS LAST MAN IN CABINET TO GET CAR

Secretary of Agriculture Abandons Horses; Uncle Sam Buys Auto

By HARRY WARD

For International News Service. WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Secretary of Agriculture, Henry C. Wallace, of Iowa, is the last member of President Harding's official family to adopt the automobile. While other members of the cabinet ride to and from the White House in luxurious automobiles furnished at government expense, Secretary Wallace, like his predecessors, has been content to dash up to the executive mansion behind a spanking pair of bays drawing a bromham.

But the lure of the automobile was too much for the cabinet member who looks after the interests of the farmers. When the bill appropriating the money for the maintenance of the agricultural department during the present fiscal year was being drawn Secretary Wallace had an item inserted appropriating money for the purchase of an automobile for his official use. The appropriation became available on July 1, and a handsome limousine, by far the most luxurious possessed by any cabinet member, was purchased for Secretary Wallace.

Grandson Liked Team

Just before he discarded his familiar bays and brought for the new car Secretary Wallace brought his young grandson to the White House. The boy confessed that it was the first time that he had ever ridden behind a team of horses and evinced much delight in the experience.

Asked if he was not afraid that the farmers would censure him for discarding horses for the automobile, Secretary Wallace smilingly replied that it was a poor farmer, indeed, these days who did not own an automobile.

Cabinet Now Motorized

With the advent of the new car, President Harding's cabinet is now completely motorized. William Howard Taft was the first president to adopt the automobile as his official vehicle. Gradually the members of the cabinet changed over from horse-drawn carriages to motor cars, and the postmaster-general and the secretary of agriculture were the only holders of cabinet portfolios who remained faithful to the horse and carriage. Postmaster-General Burleson detested automobiles, but when Will Hays succeeded him Hays secured a snappy roadster for his official use. And now Secretary Wallace has completed the motorization of the cabinet.

FIRST AID KITS FOR AUTO, PLAN

L. A. Hospital Chief Makes Suggestion to Remedy Many Accidents

As one of the remedies for the numerous automobile accidents which, according to police statistics, have been on the increase since the first of the year, Charles H. Whitehead, chief nurse at the receiving hospital in Los Angeles, advocates the equipment of every car with an emergency first-aid kit.

"If more people were prepared to render first aid when automobile accidents occur, there would be fewer fatalities," declared Mr. Whitehead, who has been connected with the receiving hospital for fourteen years, and has assisted in giving emergency treatment to thousands of persons.

Drivers unprepared to render adequate first aid is rendered immediately following an accident, the chances of recovery are 75 per cent greater. Too many who drive autos are wholly unprepared to cope with the slightest kind of injury. In many cases it is necessary for them to tear up clothing to make the simplest kind of a bandage, which even at its best is very unsatisfactory.

"Speaking from my own experience, I would say that there can be no greater humanitarian thought than that of being prepared to aid injured persons, and I would strongly urge every motorist to obtain a good emergency kit and keep it in the car."

Powdered Nose, So Hundred Cars Wait

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—More than 100 autos came to a halt, on Grand River avenue, at Second boulevard.

More than 100 drivers fumed and fretted. Acting Mayor John Lodge, who was at the head of the procession, craned his neck to look in the procession ahead of him. He saw the woman driver back against the cushions calmly powdering her nose. After madame had concluded her toilette she shifted gears and drove on.

More than 100 males waved their hands hopelessly, as the string of cars moved forward.

FINISH SURVEY OF AUTO CAMPS

Horticultural Inspectors Look for Insect Or Disease Pests

Inspectors from the Los Angeles county horticultural commissioner's office have recently completed a survey of conditions existing at the various automobile camps in this county.

The object of the inspections was to determine the prevalence, if any, of vegetation at the various camps which might harbor insect or disease pests from other states. An especially careful search was made for possible areas in which alfalfa—either volunteer or the planted—might be growing, because of the fact that there is a possible danger of introduction of alfalfa weevil into California on camper's effects in automobiles traveling from infested districts in other states where this pest is present.

The reports of the inspectors engaged in this survey indicate that because there is almost a total absence of alfalfa plants in any of the camps, or in fact of any other vegetation except shade trees, the danger of any infestation being present is very slight indeed.

Inspecting Automobiles
Supplementing the establishment by the state department of agriculture of inspection at the points of entry into California from other states the local horticultural commissioner's office carried on an inspection at the various automobile camps, both private and municipal, of automobiles coming from other states as being potential carriers of serious insect and disease pests of agricultural crops. During a period of eleven months nearly 900 machines were found to have either originated in or traveled through states which are under quarantine because of the presence of alfalfa weevil, and 300 to have either originated in or passed through states in which cotton boll weevil is present. Fully 90 per cent of the total number of automobiles inspected were from or had traveled thru states where one or both of these two major pests were present.

Has New Method to Curb Fast Driving

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—A new method of punishing speeders was introduced here by Justice Benjamin Shove when, rather than send Emmet Ross to the penitentiary in default of fine, he ordered the man to surrender his machine for six weeks. Ross turned it over to the police.

Spikes for Speeders

The officials of the town of North Adams, Mass., are effectively enforcing the anti-speed ordinance with an original road barrier. A policeman stands at the side of the road with a red lantern. Speeding drivers are hailed and cautioned to use discretion, providing they stop. If they fail to stop the policeman blows his whistle and farther along the road a belt, filled with short spikes, is stretched across the highway. No one has run past it as yet.

LEON DURAY WILL BE IN FAMOUS SPEED CLASSIC

Frenchman to Drive Auto Used at Indianapolis; Purse Is $30,000

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—The entry of one of the most daring and hardest-driving pilots of the automobile racing game has been received by the Kansas City Speedway association for the 300-mile international speed classic, which will open the new $500,000 bowl September 16.

The latest entrant is Leon Duray, famous French driver, who until a breakdown forced him out of the race, was Jimmy Murphy's most formidable contender at Indianapolis this year. For seventy-four laps Duray pushed this winner hard, and when Murphy went into the pits at the seventy-fifth lap for repairs, the Frenchman took the lead. He held it for only one lap, however, when his car suffered a breakdown.

Drives Imported Car

Duray is bringing the Frontenac car he drove at Indianapolis, said to be capable of a speed of 120 miles an hour, to the Kansas City race. Race followers are expecting him to make a great run for the $30,000 purse.

The other entries already received are:

Jimmy Murphy, Harry Hartz, runner-up to Murphy at Indianapolis; Tommy Milton, 1921 A. A. A. champion; Cliff Durant, Roscoe Scales, Joe Thomas, Bennett Hill, Al Melcher, Frank Elliott and Jerry Woodworth.

Big Crowd Expected

Two Kansas City built cars—the "Junior Specials" designed by E. T. Richards and constructed at a cost of $50,000—also are entered, but drivers for them have not yet been selected.

A crowd of between 60,000 and 75,000 persons will attend the Middle West's first international speed race, it is estimated. Work on the second all-steel grandstand, with a seating capacity of 15,000, was begun this week and will be completed in seven work days. The track is nearing readiness for the elimination trials, which will be held about Sept. 16.

Keep Car Greased

Too much advice about keeping the car well greased and oiled frequently leads the newcomer into a lot of otherwise unnecessary trouble. Many a driver has oiled his generator and starter motor too liberally with the result that the commutators became oil-soaked and went temporarily out of business. It isn't a half-bad idea to consult the instruction book now and again. If the oiling charts stipulate "six drops of oil every 1000 miles" nothing will be gained by increasing the dose to twelve drops.

Studebaker

SPECIAL-SIX TOURING

A NEW LOW PRICE

WHEREVER you look, you will find protection against hard wear built into the Studebaker Special-Six and this quality of construction is just as exacting down under the surface as it is where you can see every detail.

The skillful workmanship and the fine materials of these hidden values are largely responsible for its long-lived dependable service.

Two important elements that make the Special-Six notable for fine performance and comparative freedom from repair, are the four-bearing crankshaft and the seven-inch frame with its five cross-members and sub-frame supporting the motor and the separate transmission.

The new price, $1275, is the lowest for which the Special-Six Touring Car ever sold—and the quality is better than ever.

Price does not always determine value, but in the case of Studebaker it establishes the finest values in the market. The name Studebaker on your car insures satisfaction.

Come in or phone and let us give you a demonstration in the Special-Six. Drive it yourself. A ride will help you make up your mind. In public confidence and respect, the name Studebaker stands higher than ever.

NEW CHEVROLETS
ARRIVE IN CITY

C. L. Smith Company Can Now Deliver Cars at Once, Says Harry Smith

"During the past ten days, we have received forty-five new Chevrolet cars, and for a week or so, anyway, we will be able to make immediate deliveries," says Harry Smith of the C. L. Smith company, Chevrolet dealers on Colorado and Orange streets.

On Thursday, says Mr. Smith, one shipment of twenty-seven of the cars was received, and the rest of them have all arrived within the past ten days. Among the new Chevrolets, which are all of the four-ninety type, are two sedans, one coupe, one roadster, two delivery chassis and one delivery car. The rest are five-passenger touring models.

"Judging from the way sales have gone so far," stated Mr. Smith, "we will easily reach the total of sixty new cars sold and delivered during September which C. L. Smith predicted at the beginning of the month."

Tested Older Model
Just to prove to himself that the Chevrolet is a dependable and lasting car, Mr. Smith recently put one of the older models to the test by using it on a vacation trip into Riverside county.

The car was a Chevrolet four-ninety of the vintage of 1918, and neither the rear end, the transmission or the motor had ever been taken down or overhauled, he says. Mr. Smith drove the car to Murietta Hot Springs in Riverside county, going by way of Temescal Canyon. The car made the trip without a bit of trouble, he says, although the return trip was made after dark in just three hours and twenty minutes.

Mr. Smith says that although the Chevrolet is becoming even more popular than ever as a family and pleasure car, it is filling a big place in the business world. Touring cars, roadsters and coupes are being widely used for business purposes, he says, and the four-nineties are growing in popularity for use as delivery cars.

GAS, OIL SAVED,
DEALER IS TOLD

Willys-Knight Made Twenty Six Miles to Gallon, Owners Announce

An average of twenty-six miles to the gallon of gasoline was the record established by Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor of Sunset and Summit streets, Tulzing, who returned recently from a 2500-mile motor trip in their new Willys-Knight touring car, purchased from George T. Smith, Willys-Knight and Overland dealer, at 228 South Brand, Glendale.

The 2500 miles were covered on 96 gallons of gasoline, and the only oil used, according to Mrs. Taylor, was when the crankcase was refilled after being drained at the end of 1000 miles. The motor showed no signs of heating, she says, and no water was added to the radiator during the entire trip.

Considered Many Points
"In selecting our car," says Mrs. Taylor, "we considered the following points: Ease, economy of operation, power, resale value, and popularity among motorists who are well acquainted with automobile values. After many demonstrations of cars ranging from $1000 to $2000, we selected the Willys-Knight as meeting the specifications most fully."

"The only motor that improves with use" is surely a statement of facts. After 3000 miles, our motor is more flexible, more quiet and more powerful, and is improving with every mile."

George T. Smith, local dealer, reports that notwithstanding the heat, August was a highly successful month, and statements from his sales force show that September may be expected to bring an even greater volume of business. The 1923 open and closed models are now on display at his show room, 228 South Brand, which is open every evening until 9:30 o'clock.

Ship Captains Ask
Guns to Fight With

HONOLULU—Basing their plea on the increasing activities of opium runners in Hawaiian waters, masters of several trans-Pacific passenger steamers have taken preliminary steps to obtain official authority to equip their vessels with machine guns with which to keep all suspicious craft at a safe distance while approaching or departing from Honolulu.

During the last few months opium of an estimated value of more than $100,000 is said to have been landed at Honolulu from trans-Pacific vessels. Small power boats, manned as a rule by orientals, are thought to be the means of transportation used by the smugglers in getting their contraband ashore. It is understood that the request will be incorporated in a formal petition and forwarded to Washington.

Building Roads
to Bear Valley

REDLANDS, Sept. 9.—The Utah Construction company, having the contract for the building of the Deep Creek cutoff from the City Creek road into Bear Valley, has a large crew on the job with steam shovels, and other road-building apparatus. The company is starting the work toward the dam, hoping to get it finished before the heavy storms of the winter begin.

The company is constructing the road with funds from both state and federal government. It is to be a wonderful road for the mountains, nothing more than a 6 per cent grade and twenty feet wide. The road will be the shortest to Bear Valley, and when the Mill Creek road is widened and the grades cut down as planned, the motorist can go up a short road to the valley and down a more scenic one or vice versa.

There is every indication that the Deep Creek cutoff will be completed within two years.

Lord Motor Car Co.
Earnings Climbing

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—Net profits of the Ford Motor company for the year ended April 30 were $60,000,000, according to a statement made public in New York city and confirmed by Ford officials here, who expressed the belief that the figures had been taken from public records in New Jersey or Massachusetts, but declared that they are correct.

The report shows that at the close of the fiscal year, April 30, the company had $158,615,348 in cash and debts receivable, an increase of $58,620,000 over those of the preceding year. Accounts and notes payable were more than $15,000,000 less than the figures of the preceding year.

Accumulated surplus earnings were shown as $240,478,000, as against $182,877,000 the preceding year.

TELLS OF HEAVY
HUPMOBILE TEST

H. E. Litten, at Home From Huntington Lake, Says Car Acted Perfectly

H. E. Litten, of the Inland Floor company, at 219½ East Broadway, who returned Thursday morning from a two weeks' trip to Huntington Lake, can't say too much for the Hupmobile, which he drove.

Accompanied by Mrs. Litten, her mother, Mrs. E. Stevenson, and Fred Lampton, also of the floor company, Mr. Litten left Glendale two weeks ago Thursday. The party drove to Huntington Lake in Fresno county and spent the two weeks there in camp, hunting, fishing and hiking. They caught all the trout they could eat, and the two men brought down two bucks.

Put to Hard Test

The most severe test to which the Hupmobile was put, says Mr. Litten, was on the Toll House road on the Huntington Lake route. This road, he says, is an almost continual upgrade, averaging from seventeen to twenty per cent. In places, says Mr. Litten, it looked as though it were going straight up, and on one occasion the women got out of the car, believing that it would never climb the extremely steep grade confronting it. However, the Hupmobile climbed and went over the top without a murmur, he says.

On the 350-mile trip, which necessitated a large amount of second and low gear work on account of the unusually steep grades and bad roads, the Hupmobile averaged better than twenty miles per gallon of gasoline, and the amount of oil used was negligible, says Mr. Litten.

J. H. French, of Bartlett & French, Hupmobile dealers, at 107 East Colorado, says that Mr. Litten is a typical Hupmobile owner in his enthusiasm about the car. Hupmobile owners are the best salesmen for Hupmobiles, says the local dealer.

Automobile Bank

A $500,000 automobile bank and warehouse is planned in Chicago. The unique institution will be a sixteen-story building, the ground floor to be used for a motor banking business, and the upper floors for the storage of new cars by firms in the city. Dealers and manufacturers may store their automobiles in the building and borrow money on warehouse certificates.

NO OIL TROUBLE
ON STUDEBAKERS

Burbank Contractor Tells Don Packer of Car's Unusual Saving

Ray Houle, contractor of Burbank, who drives a Studebaker special six, travels 1200 miles before looking at his oil gauge, according to Don Packer of the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand, local Studebaker dealer.

Mr. Houle stopped in at the local agency a few days ago to have a mechanic check up on his car, and while there told Mr. Packer of the oil mileage which he obtains. He averages between 1700 and 1900 miles per quart of oil, according to Mr. Packer, and after filling the crankcase, doesn't bother to look at the oil gauge until the speedometer has registered at least 1200 miles.

Although he has driven his special six over 17,000 miles in the past five months, Mr. Houle has no trouble with it, and the hard tests to which it is put almost daily do not seem to lessen its economy of operation.

Experience Not Unusual
Mr. Houle's experience is not unusual among Studebaker owners, according to Mr. Packer. The popularity of the car, he says, is shown by the fact that an additional new model has been designed by the factory and will come out with the fall closed car sedan, mounted on a big six speed chassis.

Six disc wheels with six cord tires, a trunk rack and trunk, automatic windshield wiper, bumpers on front and rear, and other new refinements are standard equipment on the new type of sedan, says Mr. Packer. They make up a car which embodies the comfort and elegance of the sedan with the attractive appearance and driving qualities of a sport model or speedster.

Sells Horse; Sees
It In France Again

POMEROY, Ohio—Just before the world war Glenn Johnson, farming a few acres near here, decided to sell off his stock. Then he enlisted in an artillery outfit and went to France, where he saw active service.

Among the horses supplied his outfit was one he had sold several months before. There was a happy reunion, as the horse recognized him, Johnson said.

Don't forget that it may take two hours of steady work to resuscitate asphyxia cases.

Court Motor Company Gets New Headquarters at 235 South Brand

The Court Motor company, local Cadillac dealer, has secured salesrooms at 235 South Brand and is now moving from the old quarters at 228 South Brand.

The new salesrooms are being prepared for occupancy by the big cars. Signs are being placed on the windows, and the mural decorating which lends a touch of distinctiveness is practically complete.

Minor alterations of the office rooms have been finished and within a few days Mr. Court expects that all workmen will be through, at which time he will put on display his line of cars.

Autos of Austria
Now Cost Millions

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Purchasing an automobile in Vienna, Austria, is a matter of high finance, according to a report to the commerce department from American Consul Kemp.

Prices on the types of cars prevailing on the Austrian market, Kemp reported, are nonchalantly quoted between 2,000,000 and 2,500,000 crowns, and they vary with the shifting exchange.

DOG ORDINANCES
HAVE NEW FAVOR

Miss Bessie May Hale Has Prize, Cats, So That Is Her Reason

There are cats and cats, but Miss Bessie May Hale, assistant at the Chamber of Commerce, is convinced that there are no other cats quite like her eighteen-pound Persian beauty in Glendale.

And no wonder, for Tango and Buster came all the way from Oshkosh, Wis.

This morning Miss Hale found it necessary to go out in her back yard, at 329 Howard street, and separate one of them from the grip of a hungry airhead, who was visiting the premises.

Consequently, she is very strong for the dog ordinance and very much opposed to the cat ordinance.

Use Oil Freely
Oil is the only remedy for squeaks in the car. Friction between the body and the frame, mud guards, springs and spring clips, tire carrier, hood, radiator supports and many other places will cause noise. Squirt oil into all the likely places and most of the unlikely places and the annoying "birds" will be finally suppressed.

Would Paint Roads
In England the suggestion has been made that the public highways be colored by means of some cheap chemical spray which would make them less tiring to the eyes of motor drivers.

DEMAND GROWING
FOR JEWETT SIX

C. J. Ruskau of Sunset Motor Company Declares Factory Far Behind

"Sales on Jewett Sixes are becoming greater every day," says C. J. Ruskau of the Sunset Motor Company, Paige and Jewett dealers at 306 East Colorado.

"The Jewett is designed and built by the Paige Detroit Motor Company and backed by this company's many years of experience in successful automobile construction," says Mr. Ruskau. "In view of this fact there is such a demand for Jewett Sixes that the factory is far behind in orders for open cars. At present, however, we are able to make deliveries on sedans."

"The Jewett is a real sedan with four doors, and is in no sense a makeshift. The body panels are of steel, with smooth, closed joints, and high grade standard finish. There are no substitutions for better construction here. Just as the Jewett sedan is powered for highway and hill, it is built for mountain trail as well as boulevard."

A Motor That Actually Thrives on Carbon

Most people think of "carbon" in terms of trouble.

It means lost power, reduced compression and expensive repairs in most motors.

But here is a motor that actually thrives on carbon. The Willys-Knight Motor improves with use, because accumulated carbon helps to tighten compression. Quiet—powerful—smooth-running—it is entirely free from the usual motor repair costs. And the motor is as simple and understandable as it is economical. The valve mechanism—for instance—just two sleeves sliding smoothly on a film of oil, instead of noisy, rapid-wearing poppet valves and springs.

The Willys-Knight is not only beautiful, graceful, easy-riding; it has been built to last and match the quiet motor.

CARS OF GRAPES LEAVE FOR EAST

Over Forty Thousand Boxes Going to New York Out of One Vineyard

Wine grapes from the Mesner vineyard, of 600 acres, just north of Verdugo Woodlands, are being shipped at the rate of one or two cars per day, according to P. L. Hatch, general manager of the Glendale and Montrose railway, which is bringing the cars from the vineyard to transcontinental railway connections.

A total of thirty-five to forty cars of fruit are to be sent as rapidly as the grapes can be packed and loaded. With big boxes loaded 1080 to the car, forty cars would mean 43,200 boxes of the fruit from the one vineyard. The entire shipment is consigned to New York city.

The grapes, says Mr. Hatch, are packed in pre-iced refrigerators, which are kept iced throughout the trip to New York. Several varieties of the fruit are being shipped, and all are in good condition.

NEW NASH SEDAN NOW ON DISPLAY

Now Thirteen Models to Meet Requirements of Many Drivers

Simultaneously with the opening of the fall closed car season, the Nash Motor Company announces a five-passenger six-cylinder sedan, according to E. B. Sutton of the Glendale Nash agency, 112 South Maryland avenue. The new model is being shipped to distributors and dealers as rapidly as production will permit.

"The new five-passenger six-cylinder sedan was produced in response to a widespread demand on the part of Nash dealers and the buying public for a car of this type," said C. B. Voorhis, vice-president and director of sales of the Nash Motors company.

"With this addition, the Nash line now includes thirteen models, each meeting separate and distinct requirements. In the six-cylinder car line are now three enclosed cars—the new five passenger sedan, the seven-passenger sedan, and the four-passenger coupe, while the four-cylinder line includes four enclosed body types—the five-passenger sedan, the five-passenger carriage, three-passenger coupe and two-passenger cab."

Description of Car

The new six sedan for five passengers is built on the Nash 121-inch wheelbase chassis; its design and appearance are in keeping with that good taste which distinguishes all models of the Nash Motors Company. The car is built low, on a strong enduring chassis, yet with ample road clearance and with its wonderful easy riding springs, it rides as buoyantly on country highways and crowded roads as in service about town.

The famous Nash perfected valve-in-head motor is a guarantor of its faithful and continuous performance. Its mohair interior furnishing and upholstery is of the same choice quality used in the most expensive cars. Its four doors are wide and its seats are unusually comfortable.

In response to public demand, the manufacturers have made refinements in outward appearance and in the matter of comfort, so that today the enclosed car offers the most in comfort as well as in economy to the buyer, it is stated.

BIG PRICE DROP ON MAXWELL CAR

Lyman P. Clark of Glendale Motor Car Company Has Reason for Cut

Announcement is made by the Maxwell Motor corporation that the prices of the Maxwell coupe and sedan have been reduced $150, effective immediately.

These reductions, according to Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street, are the direct result of manufacturing economies brought about by a demand for Maxwell de luxe closed cars unprecedented in this price field.

"When the present-day Maxwell closed cars were first introduced," says Mr. Clark, "their distinguished design and unusually fine finish enlisted the most enthusiastic comments, not only from the public, but from the motor car industry itself."

"A demand resulted that we have never been able to satisfy, even though production has been constantly increased. We had naturally expected a closed car business proportionately greater than any we had ever had before, but we were not prepared for the unusually large number of orders that we received."

Increased Production
"To take care of this still unsatisfied demand we have increased our closed car production schedule, making possible economies that permit us to offer a really fine closed car to the public at a price almost unbelievably low."

"Maxwell closed cars have permanently closed car bodies of steel, are upholstered in high-grade broadcloth, highly finished to fine closed car standards, and have a quietness that is possible only with solid construction."

"The Maxwell closed cars have probably caused more favorable comment by their sheer good looks than any other production of recent years. In the past ten months in the hands of owners, they have excited just as favorable comment for performance, durability and economy."

U. S. Capital Seeks Russian Concession

MOSCOW.—The Russian trade delegation, just returned from Germany, reports that the Harnburg American line, in which the Harriman group is interested, has been negotiating for concessions on a steamship line running from Petrograd to Archangel and Odessa.

It is stated that Russia will supply the ships and the fuel. A large Russian-German-American combine may be the result.

Hupmobile Proves Over Again A Well Known Business Maxim

Ever since buyers began to demand real and greater value for their money, the Hupmobile has been winning an ever-widening circle of new owners.

This is the natural result of a human tendency well known to all merchants and manufacturers—that when people really seek out sound value for their money, they turn instinctively to that which is known to be good.

Everyone knows that it pays to own the Hupmobile—that its service is more reliable, its costs lower, its life longer, and that its value as an investment is higher.

We honestly believe that no motor car buyer who fully understood how little the Hupmobile costs to keep, and how finely it performs, ever allowed himself to buy anything that would give him less satisfaction in service and in costs.

Located on West Broadway In Heart of City; See Opportunity Here

The Washington Fish, Poultry & Fruit market opened this morning at 115 West Broadway. The proprietors are C. Pandel and T. Stavropoulos.

The new market, which is located in the heart of the city, is well equipped and also has an artistic method of displaying the fruit and other goods.

Mr. Pandel, who is in charge of the fish and poultry department, has been a resident of California since 1907. He has been in business in San Francisco and San Diego.

"I believe I have found a real opportunity by coming to Glendale," he said this morning. Mr. Stavropoulos, "for the weather is fine. Like my partner, I believe Glendale a fine place."

Why Your New
MAXWELL
Excels in Value of Service

It's undeniably true that the same automobile can be worth more in some places than others. Its real value is measured by the service the owner gets out of it. Every time local facilities for servicing the car are increased, the car renders more valuable service to its owner. Every year we increase our ability to assure the good performance of the Maxwells we sell.

Photographic Description of Phaeton Car

"The little conveniences and big comforts essential to motoring, along with safeguards for emergencies, are designed into—not merely added to—the five-passenger phaeton, a new model which has just been added to the Reo line," says Mr. White of the Harry E. White, Inc.

Photographs and a complete description of the new Reo phaeton have just been received. Deep cushions, generously upholstered in curled hair and genuine Marshall springs, provide unsurpassed ease.

The top is of new design, with gray interior trimming and finished with special nickel molding and leather insets.

Aluminum is used generously in the trimmings of the new model. Steel disc wheels, with tires inflating from the outside, four Royal Cord 32x4 tires and an extra rim, are standard equipment.

Many Tires Needed

With approximately 11,000,000 automobiles in the United States, it is now estimated that the tire manufacturing companies will be called upon to supply no fewer than 43,000,000 tires during the next year. The consumption for the present year is estimated at 33,000,000.

Petrograd Port Is Regaining Prestige

MOSCOW—The port of Petrograd is coming into its own again. During June, 1922, the month for which reports have just become available, there were 145 steamers entered the port of Petrograd, discharging 315,000 tons of cargo.

Twenty-eight per cent of the cargos were coal and 26 per cent government purchased food supplies.

The port at present will accommodate sixty-eight vessels at one time. It is hoped that a sufficient number of ice breakers can be put into service to keep the port open all of next winter.

Increase in Autos

This year's motor vehicle production in the United States, it is figured, will exceed 2,000,000 cars as compared with 1,668,000 for 1921, and 2,205,197, the record number of 1920.

French Hotels Are Resisting Charges

PARIS—A book written especially for American tourists is "Prices of Hotels in France—1922," which has just appeared. It is an attempt by the French hotels to counteract the propaganda accusing them of exorbitant charges. Five thousand hotels are listed. The greatest drawback to the book is that minimum prices are quoted, and to repeat La Liberté, "How often will the reader of this book be met with the reply, 'We have rooms at that price but regret that none are available now.'"

Traffic Accidents

Among the causes of traffic accidents are careless driving, children playing in streets, poor parking accommodations, insufficient playgrounds, bad street lighting, lack of signs, narrow street limits, inadequate police force and unintelligent traffic regulations.

Prepare Celebration For Armistice Day

CINCINNATI, O.—Armistice Day celebration on a scale bigger than ever before is contemplated by the Commanders' Council of the American Legion posts in Cincinnati and the vicinity. Plans are now being worked out to have large quantities of war material, such as machine guns and cannon captured by the American forces during the war, carried on floats at various points in the parade and afterward dedicated as permanent trophies of victory at appropriate locations in the city. Every organization whose members served in the world war will be represented, and it is expected that the parade will be the largest yet held in this city.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M.E. & T.W. HANSEW
Copyright, 1920 by Doubleday, Page & Company.

But there was another piece of evidence to be shown, and this took the form of a scrap of creased white paper.

It was waved aloft in the coroner's hand so that everyone could see it.

"This," said the coroner, "is an I. O. U. found upon the dead man, for two thousand pounds, and signed with the name of Lester Stark. An important piece of evidence, this. Will Mr. Stark kindly come forward?"

There was a rustle at the back of the court, and Stark pushed his way to the front, his face rather red, his eyes a trifle shamefaced. As he came, Merriton was conscious of a quickening of his pulse, of a leap of his heart, though he loathed himself afterward for the reaction. His eyes went toward Toinette, and he saw that she was looking at him, with all the love that was in her soul laid bare for him—and all to see. It cheered him, as she meant it should.

Then Stark took his place upon the witness stand.

"This I. O. U. belongs to you, I take it," said the coroner, briskly.

"It does, sir."

"And it was made out two days before the prisoner met his death. The signature is yours?"

Stark bowed his head. His eyes sought Nigel's and rested upon the pale lined face with every appearance of concern. Then he looked back at the coroner.

"Dacre Wynne lent me that money two days before he came down to visit Merriton. No one knew of it, except he and I. We had never been good friends—in fact, I believe he hated me. My mother had been—well, kind to him in the old days, and I suppose he hadn't forgotten it. Anyhow, there was family difficulty. My—my father left some considerable debts which we found we were obliged to face. There was a woman—oh, I needn't go into these family things, in a place like this, need I? . . . Well, if I must—I must. But it's a loathsome job at best. . . . There was a woman whom my father—kept. When he died he left her two thousand pounds in his will, and he hadn't two thousand pounds to leave when his debts were cleared up. We—we had to face things. Paid everything off, and all that, and then, at the last gasp, that woman came and claimed the money. The lawyer said she was within her rights, we'd have to fork out. And I couldn't lay my hands upon the amount just then, because it had taken pretty nearly all we had to clear the debts off."

"So you borrowed from Mr. Wynne?"

"Yes, I borrowed from Dacre Wynne. I'd sooner have cut my right hand off than have done it, but I knew Merriton was going to be married, and I wouldn't saddle him with my bills. Don't look at me like that, Nigel, old chap, you know I couldn't. Tony West has only enough for himself, and I didn't want to go to loan sharks."

So the matter suggested Dacre Wynne. I went to him, in her name, and ate that dinner, and he beastly—but he promised to stump up. And he did. I'm working now on a paper, to try and pay as much off as I can, and—a cousin is keeping the matter until I can look after her myself. We've taken a little place out Chelsea way. That's all."

"H'm. And you can show proof of this, if the jury requires it?"

"I . . . I have something to say, Mr. Coroner," she said in a clear, high voice. "Something to show you, also. See!" She pushed her way through the crowd that opened to admit her, gazing at her as she came rapidly to the coroner's table and held out the object. It was a small-sized revolver, identical in every detail to that which lay upon the coroner's table. "That," she said clearly, her voice rising higher and higher, as she looked into Merriton's face for a single instant and smiled wanly. "That, Mr. Coroner, is a revolver identical with the one which you have here. It is the same make, the same bore—everything!"

"So it is!" For a moment the coroner lost his calm. He lifted an excited face to meet her eyes, "Where did you get it, Miss Brelle?"

"From the top drawer of the secretaire in the little boudoir at Witherby Hall," she said calmly, "where it has always lain. You will find a shot missing. Everything the same, Mr. Coroner; everything the same!"

It belongs to some member of your household, Miss Brelle?"

She took a step backward and drew a sharp breath. Then her eyes were fixed upon Merriton's face.

"It belongs to—me," she said. (Continued Monday)

DIAMOND RING, LOST FOR 20 YEARS, FOUND IN FLOWER BED

HICKSVILLE, O., Sept. 9.—A brilliant sparkle in a flower bed in her yard attracted the attention of Mrs. W. E. Bassett. She pulled out of the dirt what she thought was a broken piece of glass. It proved to be a wedding ring with a Tiffany mounting.

Inquiry revealed that, while the house on that lot was being constructed twenty years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purkey, Mrs. Purkey lost her diamond wedding ring.

Neighbors identified Mrs. Bassett's find as Mrs. Purkey's lost ring. The ring will be sent to Mrs. Purkey, who lives at Culver City, California, where her husband died not long ago.

BLUE HERON IS CAPTURED FOR CINCINNATI ZOO CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 9.—A huge blue heron, winging a solitary flight thousands of miles from his tropical home, stopped to rest in Cincinnati recently and now has a permanent home in the local zoo. Pinion-sore and weary, the exhausted traveler dropped into the yard of the Rev. J. C. Armbrust, pastor of the North College Hill Methodist church, and was turned over to the zoo by him. The bird has been named "Margaret" in honor of the minister's little daughter.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

ORIGIN OF RADIO

The writer received two letters yesterday, both from the same locality, requesting information upon the subject of the origin of radio. From the tone of the letters it would appear the author of the article is selected to settle a wager, always an unenviable position to place himself in.

This question is an old one, and depends entirely on from what angle it is argued. Among the younger fans and new experimenters radio is considered something very recent. This is not so. Experiments leading to present results were conducted half a century ago. Space forbids a lengthy discussion of the subject and credit being placed where credit is due. The writer unhesitatingly would honor Hertz as the father of radio and Marconi as his disciple. Marconi may be said to have commercialized the academic and laboratory work of Hertz, Thompson, Morse, Edison and other contemporaries whose efforts have all contributed to the final result.

It would require a vast amount of reading and analysis to answer the question put to the writer satisfactorily to close students of radio history. The pioneers' still living are continuously adding to their earlier triumphs—Sir Oliver Lodge, Professor Fleming, Guglielmo Marconi, Tesla, Braun and others too numerous to mention here, but a shame not to mention them. On the other hand, the younger generation, all on this side of the Atlantic, have substantially improved the art, and brought it where it is today. Notable among the latter must be mentioned Major Edwin H. Armstrong, creator of the regenerative and super-regenerative vacuum tube circuits. He has so elaborated the original tube invented by Fleming as to make possible the results achieved today.

Book Reviews

"Heavens," by Louis Untermeyer, and which is among the recent additions to the shelves of the Glendale public library on Harvard street, is said by critics to be a literary double-header. The first half of the volume is a description of various and widely divergent visions of the Hereafter. The second part of this madcap volume contains five previews, some of which presume to be guides and handbooks for writers as well as readers.

"The Literature of Ecstasy," by Albert Mordell, is another of the new books. This book breaks down completely the boundary line between verse and prose. It is an original attempt to give to poetry its prime and most significant conception—that of ecstasy.

"Modern Russian Poetry," translated by Rabette Deutch and Avrahm Yarmolinsky. A comprehensive collection of lyrics from the early nineteenth century to date.

"Making the House a Home," by Edgar A. Guest. A beautiful, sincere and appealing story.

"Music," lyrical and narrative poems by John Freeman.

"Legends of San Francisco," by Caldwell.

"Great Sea Stories," selected and edited by Joseph Lewis French.

"Taming New Guinea," by Captain Monckton. Some experiences of a New Guinea resident magistrate. This volume presents a lively picture of the difficulties, hardships and perplexities of the strong type of English official in dealing with savage races on the fringe of the empire.

"Human Nature and Conduct," an introduction to social psychology, by John Dewey.

"Who are the Slavs?" by Professor R. Radosavljevich. A comprehensive study of the Slavic people in general and with reference to the specific Slavic tribes.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BROOM

"Ting-a-ling-a-ling!" rang the telephone in the hollow stump bungalow.

"I'll answer," offered Uncle Wiggily, for Nurse Jane was busy taking the strings off some beans, so they wouldn't be tied in such hard knots when she boiled them.

"Hello!" went on the bunny rabbit gentleman. "Who is this?"

"Oh, it's you, is it, Mrs. Twistytail?"

"And you want Nurse Jane to come over and help you make some corn-cob jelly. Very well, I'll tell her. And—Oh, yes, I like corn-cob jelly very much. You'll save some for me? Thank you!"

Uncle Wiggily put the telephone receiver back on the hook and turning to his muskrat lady housekeeper, said:

"You heard that, Janet? Better hurry over to the pig lady's house. Corn-cob jelly is not to be sneezed at."

"I'd like to go, but I can't," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Why not?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I have the sweeping to do," replied Nurse Jane. "I have a new broom, and there are many rooms to sweep."

"Let me sweep them!" begged Uncle Wiggily. "I can sweep, though I can not make corn-cob jelly. So let me use the broom."

"Do you think you can?" asked Nurse Jane. "Will you sweep well?"

"There is an old saying that a new broom sweeps clean," spoke the bunny gentleman, "and I'll do my best."

"Very well," agreed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "At least you can try. And, at worst, I can sweep the rooms again. As you say, corn-cob jelly is not to be sneezed at."

"Sweeping is what I said!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Though it is much the same thing. Hop along, Nurse Jane. I'll get the broom."

So while the muskrat lady went to Mrs. Twistytail's pen house, Uncle Wiggily began to sweep the rooms of the hollow stump bungalow.

"Swish, swoosh!" went the new broom over the floor, gathering the dirt into little piles like sand heaps at the seashore.

"I'll make a lot of little piles, and then take them all up at once in the dustpan," thought the bunny, as he swept and swept.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was using the broom, there sounded a voice at the door, saying:

"Excuse me, Nurse Jane, but could you—Oh, ker-choo! Ker-sneeze! Ker-sneezium!"

And there was such a sneezing that Uncle Wiggily could not hear what was said. However, through the cloud of dust he had raised, he finally noticed some one standing at the door and he called:

"If you want Nurse Jane, she isn't here. She is over at Mrs. Twistytail's making corn-cob jelly."

"Oh, all right! That's just what I am going, and I thought I'd stop and get Nurse Jane," the voice went on. Then, as the dust he had made with the broom drifted away, Uncle Wiggily saw Mrs. Bow Wow, the dog lady, standing in the doorway. "Oh, you're joining the sweeping; are you, Mr. Longears?" barked Mrs. Bow Wow. "It is very—a-ker-choo—kind of you!"

"Oh, not at—ker-foozium—all!" sneezed the bunny with a laugh.

"You should dampen your broom with water and then you wouldn't raise such a dust!" said Mrs. Bow Wow as she went on her way.

"That's something I never thought of," said the rabbit. "I'll try it!" He was just going to dip the new broom in a pail of water when, all of a sudden, he heard some one else at the back door.

"Some other animal lady coming to get Nurse Jane to go and make corn-cob jelly," thought the bunny. "Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy isn't here!" called the rabbit gentleman.

"That matters not to me! I didn't come for her! I came for you!" suddenly growled a savage voice, and into the room waddled the Skillery Scallery Alligator with the double jointed tail.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" sighed Uncle Wiggily.

"Not at all, dear—very cheap I call them! I mean your ears are cheap for I am going to nibble them for nothing!" snarled the Gator.

"Ha! Ho! Not if I can help it!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "See how you like sneezing!" With that he took the new broom, not having wet it, and he swept the little piles of dust right in the face of the Skillery Scallery Alligator. In the nose and eyes of the bad chap the dust flew, and at once the Gator cried:

"Ker Foo! Ker Zoo! Ker Moo! Oh! Ger-zack-um!" And he sneezed so hard with the whooping cough that he almost sneezed his long tail off!

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as the Gator, ker-chooing and ker-sneezing, waddled away. The new broom certainly swept you away and my ears are saved. Ho! Ho! Hooraay!"

So everything happened for the best, and if the trolley car doesn't chase the conductor up hill and make him drop all his pennies in a sand bank, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the snapping turtle.

The sun shines bright on this little home ~ it's all their own!

This spacious, pretentious home of more than passing attractiveness with its two corner porches and ideal room arrangements, will be just the idea many of you will appreciate the opportunity of adopting to build the new home by.

Unusual, you will say; yes, and this applies to both exterior and floor plan. Both have been given careful study and convey ideas not usually incorporated in homes of this size, as the home itself reflects an investment of double the amount necessary to build and acquire this ideal home.

For additional information about the home, plans, etc., write the "Home-Building Editor" of this paper.

It's a wonderful sunrise in this land of sunshine and flowers. It's strange that they never noticed it before, but really it's a new revelation for this young couple. There's a big reason for it, however—this morning the sun is shining on THEIR OWN HOME and they're watching it for the first time.

They are experiencing the most entrancing thoughts of the future—of the children they hope to see playing around the home place, where they were born and where they will develop under the loving care of parents and in the happy environments of a real home.

They glance at the bird house and involuntarily they smile, because the feathered creatures are busy as they can be, seemingly realizing that THEIR home is their own, too. And it is, say the human pair, inwardly. And again they turn to dreams of the future.

What a difference it makes, to be sure, when the house in which you live is your very own. You can plant vines to cover the portico or shade the sunny windows, without fear of someone objecting to your plans. You can lay off the lawn and the flower garden and plant a few trees and do anything you like with house and premises which will make them more attractive and comfortable. You can put your own individuality into the home you really build for yourself. You can't do that when you rent a house or apartment.

Then there is the factor of accumulating value that attaches to real estate which can never be present when all you are acquiring is a bunch of rent receipts. We are wondering if you are in the happy condition of this couple which the artist has visualized for you.

Is the sun shining brightly on YOUR HOME? Or are you still toiling along, hand to mouth, paying rent and holding yourself in constant readiness for an increase in rent or a dispossession notice? If the latter is the case, when are you going to change the conditions? You realize the value of being your own landlord, surely. You are convinced that only in your own home can you attain to the truest happiness. Then why not act now, to make the dream of years, it may be, a reality?

There are friends in this city who are interested in you and are watching you closely to see some indication of enterprise and aspiration in regard to your future. Below some of these friends are named. They are making this series of home-building messages possible, in order that you may be persuaded to grasp the present opportunity and build or buy a home place. Expert advice has been retained for your benefit and a request addressed to "Home-Building Editor," care this paper, will bring you much valuable information. Why not write it now?

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE AUTHORMAN IS SHOCKED

Whenever I have occasion to renew our household insurance, the question of values is raised again in the family council and I take stock of household furnishings and of clothes and try to reckon what it would cost to replace them.

And when I lay down my pen at the end I always say: "Oh, wouldn't it be fun if there should be a fire that would burn up all my clothes but leave my household furniture untouched. I'd just like to save a couple of things and let the rest of my clothes go."

The Insurance Wouldn't Cover. The Authorman has heard that several times but he is always shocked and never fails to remind me that even with the liberal insurance we carry, if I had to replace all my large and small belongings in the way of clothes I would soon find that the insurance would not come anywhere near covering my loss.

And I never fail to answer: "But it would be such fun to have everything new and have them all match and be just what I need. I would much rather have fewer clothes and have them new."

Still the Authorman does not understand. How could he when he has never been a woman?

I put it up to any woman. Of course you wouldn't really want a fire to happen. No one does. Fires are not careful in their selection of things to burn, but wouldn't you be willing to let all your wardrobe except perhaps one or two favorite gowns go by the board if you were given two-thirds or even half its original value to replace it with?

Do Brides Get Mixed? Think of the joy of planning a whole new wardrobe just like a trousseau—of having underwear in sets, and gowns and hats and coats and gloves and shoes and stockings all bought with an eye to being worn together, and all in the latest mode. I often wonder if there is not many a bride who confuses her love for the groom with her desire for a trousseau and a wedding and a wedding trip and her delight in being the center of the stage for a time. Suppose the holy bonds were not thus decorated and obscured. Would as many women haste to put them on?

Do you think all this is a frivolous way of talking and that I exaggerate the average woman's love of clothes? I wonder. I know a woman who is a splendid mother, an all-around homemaker, and a great reader and thinker. She wrote me one day not long ago that a great event was about to happen in her life. She had been married ten years and not once in that time had she had a whole new outfit, at a time, a suit, a blouse, a hat, shoes, stockings and gloves all at once. Now she was just about to celebrate her tenth anniversary by buying such an outfit. And she called it a great event. That showed the words were not spoken wholly in jest.

"Let's Pretend" Sometimes when I have to endure some tedious wait or tire some trip where I cannot read I amuse myself in this way. I pretend that all except my favorite gown and my beloved fur have been burned up by a well behaved fire that knew just where to stop and I allot myself a fair share of the insurance and mentally buy myself a new wardrobe.

Childish? I suppose so. But isn't that a recommendation? Should we leave to children all the happiness that can be gotten out of let's pretend. Should we not be happier if we didn't forget how to find the path that leads to the land of make-believe?

THE HASTY AND EFFECTIVE TOILETTE

A number of letters have come in to me from business girls in which they say they are anxious to follow the advice given in the Chats, as to bathing and other details comprising the dainty toilette, but cannot spare the time such grooming necessitates. One girl writes: "I have only 20 minutes in which to dress, so how can I take a full bath, much less all the other things I should love to do, in order to be fresh for the work of the day?"

And so, for other girls just so situated, I have arranged a combination of essentials that it took me exactly ten minutes to perform. I fancy any other person could do them in much the same time. Turn on the hot water and, during the time that it takes for two to three inches of it to run into the tub, clean the teeth, sniff a little water up the nose and drink, at least, one glass of clear cold water. Turn to the bathtub and scour the finger nails well with soap and a nail brush, then clean the nails and push the cuticle back with an orange stick, which should be kept with brush and soap.

Now the water is ready and should be as hot as comfortable—unless you take the tonic cold bath which is not, however, cleansing. If the water is hard add a few drops of ammonia or a few drops of benzoin. Wash the face, arms and neck, and so on, sopping as much hot water over all as is possible. Now turn to the cold water and rinse off the face and throat, sopping plenty of it over the skin. Turn the cold water on full force and let it cool the bath water.

At this time some exercise may be worked in. Draw yourself up to the foot of the tub, knees doubled, then lie back and push yourself up to the head, which will mix the hot and cold water; push yourself to a sitting position again; and repeat the exercises or invent any new ones that will keep you moving and also mix the temperature in the water.

Aim ultimately to take the bath as cold as possible, even stand up and let the shower play all over the body without wetting the hair. Rub down quickly with a coarse towel.

As a warm bath is relaxing, it should not be taken in the morning without finishing with the colder water; but since it takes hot water and soap to cleanse the body, there must be the cold water to invigorate and perfect the bath.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

WOMAN DEPUTY SHERIFF, AS FIRST ACT, ARRESTS HUBBY

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Leoni Pyo, athletic deputy sheriff, has made her first "pinch." She arrested Leo Pyo, her husband, and brought him to court, where he paid Leoni $100 in back alimony and heaved a sigh of relief as Judge Jayne discharged him from her custody.

Mrs. Pyo was specially deputized at her own request in order that she might keep an eye on Pyo until he paid.

The Pyos went into court on the complaint of the six-foot wife that her diminutive husband had failed to pay his alimony.

The court favored sentencing Leo to the house of correction.

"Don't do that, your honor," pleaded Mrs. Pyo. "I'll never get my alimony. Just turn him over to me and I'll see that he pays."

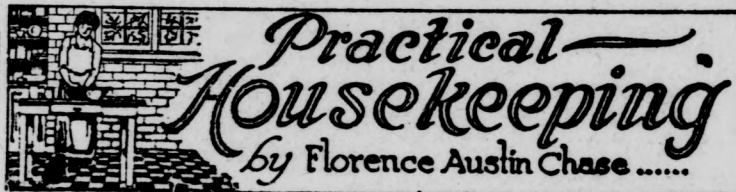

Judge Jayne then announced that Mrs. Pyo would be appointed a special deputy sheriff and placed Leo in her custody.

"If he doesn't pay, bring him back into court," added the judge.

So she brought him back and Pyo paid.

"Will you go back and live with her, now that you're free?" asked Judge Jayne.

"Nix, nix, your honor," Pyo replied.

Sunday Dinner Menu
Cubes of Pineapple in Glasses
Soft Shell Crabs Broiled
Cauliflower Vinaigrette
Fried Tomatoes, Mashed Potatoes
Pear Salad
Pecan Pie
Coffee

Pineapple Cubes—Remove the skin and eyes from the pineapple. Cut crosswise in half-inch slices, and the slices in cubes, at the same time discarding the core. Sprinkle with sugar and stand in cold place one hour. When ready to serve pile in small cocktail glasses and garnish with a bit of maraschino cherry.

Soft Shelled Crabs Boiled—The greatest care must be taken in preparing and cleaning the crab. Wash carefully, remove all sand, but do not scald or blanch them; as this destroys the fine flavor. Remove the spongy, feathery substances under the side points. Remove also the sand-bag under the shells just between the eyes; also remove the tablier. Wash well in cold water and dry between clean towels, then season with salt and pepper and soak them in milk, two cups of milk for each dozen of crabs. Drain, then pat lightly with a little flour and brush over with melted butter. Broil over slow fire until a delicate brown, then turn and brown the other side. Serve on hot platter, garnish with sprigs of parsley and lemon cut in quarters. Pour over the crabs a little melted butter and sprinkle with finely-chopped parsley.

Fried Tomatoes—Wash, wipe and peel firm ripe tomatoes; then cut into one-half inch slices. Sprinkle each slice with salt and paprika and roll in beaten egg, which has been diluted with a little cold water, then in fine cracked crumbs. Place in frying basket and plunge in hot fat. Cook until a delicate brown, then remove from fat, drain and sprinkle with a little grated cheese. Serve hot.

Cauliflower Vinaigrette—Separate the cauliflower, piece by piece, having taken off the outer leaves and cut off the rough stalk. Place them in a pot of boiling water with a teaspoon salt, and let them boil rapidly for thirty minutes, till stalks are tender. Remove them gently to serving dish and serve "à la Vinaigrette"—that is, with vinegar, salt and pepper.

Pear Salad—Place crisp lettuce leaves on cold salad plates, and dispose two halves of canned pears, hollow sides up, on each plate. Place a spoonful of Chantilly salad dressing on each half and garnish with thin strips of canned pimiento.

Pecan Pie—Put one cup of milk in double boiler and scald it; then add one-half cup sugar and bring

World's Largest Show In L. A. on Monday

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey day draws near and with it will come a vast circus of "ten thousand wonders" to exhibit in Los Angeles September 11, 12, 13, and 14.

This mammoth amusement enterprise of 1922 has been officially recorded as "America's ten times greatest circus." It is a third bigger than it was in 1921. For, in addition to the many innovations offered then, the present season's program numbers ten more trained wild animal displays—making twenty in all—and the most superb trained horse acts that Europe has yet produced.

The wild animal and equine displays of 1921 were introduced merely that the Ringling Brothers might judge of their popularity. So enthusiastically were these numbers received that the famous showmen immediately arranged for the purchase of the world's finest acts of this kind. An entire equine circus was bought outright and brought to this country last winter.

And while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey agents were securing this and the trained tiger, polar bear, lion, leopard and jaguar groups, they had orders to engage the foremost men and women performers of the European capitals. And these stars from city and jungle are all to be seen with this wonder circus of 1922. Everything, including the great double menagerie of more than a thousand animals and exhibiting such rarities as a mite of a baby hippopotamus and its three-ton mother, is to be seen for the price of one admission ticket.

Grapes are ripe at the Old Grapevine, tamales, enchiladas, Spanish and chicken dinners by order. Los Angeles Ave., Montrose, Marie Pettit, Prop.—Advertisement.

Sockums Gets Into Trouble
Dear Doctor:

"The adorable Sockums said this morning that all his diapers had to be ironed. Think of that. A dozen diapers a day and never less and often more is what my babies used, and as I never under any circumstances used one twice, I would have had a nice time ironing seven or eight dozen diapers a week, wouldn't I?"

"I lived among women who had to work but I never knew one who ironed diapers, unless it was somebody with nothing much to do. I certainly never ironed one, and I never thought it made them any better. I always soaked them in two tubs, one for wet and the other for soiled ones, and then boiled them thoroughly and hung them in the sun and air and then folded them away, and I nearly always had two babies wearing diapers at the same time. And they were lucky if they had their outside clothes ironed."

Your letter is just filled with practical things, M., and I shall use some of the material you have sent in later.

Diapers that can be hung in the sun as your babies' were, undoubtedly would be all right without ironing. And, perhaps, even though they could not have this advantage, if they are thoroughly washed, rinsed, boiled and dried they would probably be all right. The ironing makes them a little smoother.

I wish more of you mothers would write in to me, giving me suggestions and telling me of things that have helped you with your babies, and tell me of things which have been difficult for you with them, too.

Fat Children

To the mother who wrote telling me about her 14-year-old girl who is so fat that sometimes it seems as though she would choke from her shortness of breath, and who writes, "I know if children can reduce by the same system that I am giving adults:

Yes. Exactly the same methods should be used. Correct diet and gradually increasing exercises.

HERE'S SCHEDULE OF COLLECTIONS

City Observes Holidays In Gathering Garbage and Rubbish at Homes

There will be no collection of either garbage or rubbish on Christmas day, according to a positive announcement this morning by City Manager W. H. Reeves, who stated that a number of families seemed to be considerably surprised when their homes were not visited by collectors on legal holidays.

Rubbish, which was not collected last Monday on account of that date being Labor day, will be picked up next Monday. Mr. Reeves said that rubbish not picked up on account of a holiday would be gathered the same day the following week.

A number of residents have complained that they have not seen the official schedule of collections. Here it is:

Schedule of Routes
West route, north of Colorado street and west of Brand boulevard, garbage Mondays and Thursdays; tin cans and rubbish, first and third Mondays. This district includes the west side of Brand boulevard and includes Colorado street.

East route, north of Colorado street and east of Brand boulevard, garbage Tuesdays and Fridays; tin cans and rubbish first and third Tuesdays. This district includes the east side of Brand boulevard and Colorado street and the Verdugo Canyon district.

South route, south of Colorado street, garbage, Wednesdays and Saturdays; tin cans and rubbish, first and third Wednesdays. This district does not include Colorado street.

Regulations require that all garbage and waste matter must be placed on curbing or alley line not later than 6 a. m. on days of collection.

Plymouth Liberals Favor Lady Astor

LONDON—"Because of her bold defense of womanhood and children Lady Astor is not to be opposed at the next parliamentary election by the Plymouth Liberals."

Mr. G. P. Dymond, president of the Plymouth Liberal association, made this announcement at a meeting of the association. He regarded Lady Astor, he said, as an international conservative, so far as English-speaking peoples were concerned.

A Short Cut to Home-Owning

To escape from rent-paying is to go far on the road to economic freedom.

We have money to help wage-workers, salaried folks, small business people own their own homes. We aid lot-owners or those with equities in lots or those who have saved a little money. If you have 30% of the cost of home and lot we'll lend 70% at once and give you 10 years in which to repay.

We aid to the limit those who really want to own a home.

Call and learn our simple, yet complete, clean-cut plan.

The sun shines bright on this little home ~ it's all their own!

The sun always shines brighter on the home when you own it. You may not notice this fact when you are busily engaged in moving from one place to another and gathering a sheaf of rent receipts which are of no value to you whatsoever. However, once the home becomes your own, when you buy or build it, or when you begin to acquire an equity in it, which will increase as the months or years go by, immediately the sun is brighter, the breezes are more refreshing, the flowers bloom more beautifully and with a more pronounced fragrance.

Really you don't realize the difference until you try it.

We know from experience the problems which confront the home-builder. We have hundreds of plans with photographs of homes, every conceivable character and every possible cost.

Let us help you to choose plans for your home and the materials which are necessary for its construction. We are in position to be of assistance to you, and ask that you call and see us.

CAN'T HAVE TOO MANY CAR LINES

Glendale Man Says City Is Just Starting Its Growth; Endorses Project

"Glendale can't have too many electric lines—this town has just started to grow!" exclaimed Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson of 327 West Cypress street, heartily endorsing the project to establish street car service on South Glendale avenue.

"The new line can't do a bit of harm and it is going to do a world of good in my opinion," he continued. "We will hope that it will have some effect upon the Pacific Electric so that, if they don't ask the railroad commission to bring down their fares, they will at least bring up the service."

"There is no doubt that the more transportation we have in Glendale the better!"

Chicago has a law firm composed of mother, son and daughter.

Police Authorized to Shoot Dogs, Cats

Carrying out a prediction made a few days ago, an ordinance went into effect today authorizing Glendale officers to shoot on sight any dog or cat, muzzled or not, seen on the city streets. Formal action installing the ordinance was a telegram received by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, from the state board of health. The telegram reads:

"San Francisco, September 8, 1922. Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, Glendale, California. I hereby create quarantine district included within the boundaries of Glendale city for enforcement of regulation of state board of health, contained in special bulletin No. 3, covering rabies."

"WALTER M. DICKIE, Secretary to State Board of Health."

GOOD INTENTIONS

"What in hades made you let go of that rope?" bellowed the irate master of the ceremonies associated with engineering a safe through a ninth-story window, as he contemplated the wreck consequent upon his Italian helper's dereliction.

"Scusa me, boss," faltered poor Giovanni, "but I had to tella da lady to looka out."

FIVE DOCTORS TRY TO SAVE LIFE OF MRS. HARDING

Chances for Recovery of President's Wife Still In Grave Doubt

rest only after dawn broke this morning. Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and Comptroller of the Currency D. R. Crisinger of Marion, Ohio, also were at the White House until very late.

Three physicians remained at the executive mansion throughout the night—Dr. John Finney, of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore; Dr. Carl E. Sawyer, Mrs. Harding's personal physician and his son, Dr. Carl F. Sawyer, of Marion. They fought an all night battle to save the life of their patient. Dr. George T. Harding, brother of the president, has been summoned from Columbus, and will arrive this morning.

The rapid development of her illness, which dates back a week ago, was described by attending physicians today as hydrocephalus in an acute form. For ten years Mrs. Harding has been a sufferer from chronic kidney trouble. This old trouble was aggravated a few days ago by a severe cold. She also has been under considerable strain, according to her friends, because of worry over the industrial situation in which she has taken a deep and constant interest.

Early this morning, it was learned from physicians that the patient was being eased by continuous use of hot applications, which induced perspiration.

Attorney General Daugherty, a close friend of the Hardings for years, returned to the White House at 7 o'clock this morning. After a visit to the sick room, he said:

"Mrs. Harding spent a restless night. I think she has a chance of recovery."

It is understood that opiates were being administered this morning. The attending physicians described Mrs. Harding's spirit as "indomitable."

Mrs. Harding's condition was described this morning by the attending physician as such that a quick turn might come at any moment. A definite turn is expected within twenty-four hours in any event.

A prayer for the recovery of Mrs. Harding was delivered in the senate this afternoon by its chaplain, Rev. J. J. Muir.

"Sustain Thy spirit that she may rest in Thy hand," the chaplain prayed with a score of senators standing with heads bowed.

"And give unto Thy servant, the President of these United States, strength in his hour of distress and anxiety to wait and endure the will of God."

P. L. HATCH TELLS PROPOSED FARES FOR NEW LINE

General Manager Predicts Rates If Electric Line Becomes Reality

force from Brand and Broadway to LaCrescenta avenue, 5 cents; to Montrose, 10 cents; to LaCrescenta, 15 cents one way, 25 cents round trip. Thirty-day family books, $2.50 to Montrose and $2.75 to LaCrescenta.

The free transfer privileges over the yellow car line to any part of Los Angeles was emphasized by Mr. Hatch. He called attention to the fact that the Eagle Rock car line passes near the county, federal and Los Angeles city buildings and parallels the business district for much of its route. The length of time it will take a passenger to go to Sixth and Spring street over the new route will vary from half an hour to an hour, depending upon where he boards the car, according to an estimate made by Mr. Hatch. He calculated that the time necessary to traverse the new stretch of track will be about fourteen minutes. About twenty-five minutes is consumed by the yellow car line in going from Glendale Park to Sixth street. Combining these two figures gives a total of thirty-nine minutes from Broadway and Sixth street, Los Angeles.

Some More Figures

LaCrescenta passengers would have another twenty-two-minute ride in addition; passengers from Montrose another seventeen-minute ride, and passengers from Glendale another additional seven-minute ride. This makes the time from LaCrescenta to Sixth street, Los Angeles, about sixty-one minutes. However, the new line is only a short block away from the Pacific Electric line at Forest avenue, in Southern Glendale, and passengers from the Verdugo Valley probably would save time by changing cars here. The commutation fare over the Pacific Electric from this point is 13 cents a ride. Mr. Hatch said that suitable commutation rates would be made over the Glendale and Montrose line.

"We have had several discussions with the Los Angeles Railway and they expressed themselves as being willing to co-operate with us in establishing this service," remarked Mr. Hatch. "They have not come right out and said what they would do, but they have indicated that they would do their part. It seems to me that the only thing for them to do would be to have a car meet our car at Glendale Park to take care of Glendale passengers. I think they will do that."

"The yellow car line has already ordered new cars for its Eagle Rock line, and expects to run them in trains. I would think that in another month they would have them in operation. That is my understanding. They were ordered three months ago."

The question of a shelter at the junction point has been considered by the officials of the Glendale and Montrose railway.

"That is one thing that we want to work out with the Los Angeles railway," remarked Mr. Hatch. "We will have to have something down there. A joint station down there would be a fine thing."

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Have You An Ambition? What Wonderful Changes In Church of Affield How Old is California?

By Gil A. Cowan

THERE are 1,000 young people in Glendale today standing at the threshold of life—beginning college or high school courses which should lead to careers which are well worth commenting upon.

Each and everyone should have some definite aim in life, a fixed ambition to do something worth while, for pity the poor person without purpose who goes through the world with the idle thought of "when do I eat" or "where do I sleep" tonight.

It is not necessary to make up your mind to be a lawyer, or a doctor, or a teacher, or a preacher, but set yourself to obtaining an education which will fit you for something. In other words, make every school hour count for the opportunity to learn was never greater and the chances never better, or the willing young person.

Significant of the social revolution now quietly engulfing the country is an indifferent attitude which should not be tolerated and will not be tolerated as normalcy in things is regained.

While a certain amount of indifference, like a little salt, is necessary, too much of it spoils personality and causes contempt for the unfortunate victim.

One can hardly believe that the whole-souled, happy young people of Glendale will be indifferent toward their teachers, their elders, their advisers or their parents, but they do not seem to care for the slovenly habit of ignoring that which is for their own good.

Speaking of social revolution causes me to think of the many changes which have come about in this country, especially California, in the last decade.

Instead of exhibiting itself in a sullen, morose populace that marks some of the industrial and farming centers of the east, you will find it here in the radical expression and action of the people which soon vents itself and we all become accustomed to the new era without much thought.

Ten years ago a young lady in knickerbockers would have been shunned. Five years ago bobbed hair was an adversity borne by those recuperating from serious illness, sometimes.

Fifteen years ago the one-piece bathing suit was a misdemeanor. Seven years ago (before America's entrance into the war) the boys were a bashful bunch of gay bandoleros who lost their awkwardness in the rookie squads.

Ten years ago common labor was looked upon as menial. Today it is the diversion for the youth in the best of families. Girls and women seldom drove automobiles in the good old days. Grandmothers didn't go many places, and theatres and dancing were taboo in many family circles.

Yet all of the sophistication has been for the better. Coarseness has been practically eliminated from our daily lives. True cleverness, clean humor and happy thoughts have taken its place.

Baseball and boxing and other sports now appeal to women and men alike, while lottery has almost disappeared, the saloon has been eradicated and the cheap show elevated to a place of safety for almost anyone.

One cannot believe the old world is any worse for the current wheel course that has been increased to the speed of motor cars. Why, even the automobiles, the newspapers, everything has improved more than we could have wished for, don't you think?

If you have any doubt about the new era, go to church tomorrow, if you haven't recently, and see the spirit with which people enter fully into religious service. It is not the somber, psalm singing and exhortation of yesterday. True, they do sing the good old songs, but everything sings with real musical accompaniment and the sermons are timely, even among the old school.

In the Sunday schools you will find every class almost equal to a club, with liberal discussion, intelligent instruction and a lively bunch of "flippers" and "flappers"—if you will pardon the expression—making you glad to be in their midst.

And if that is not proof sufficient, get out in the country with the car, or go to the beaches and watch the people and see the happiness and healthiness and find the friendliness you probably haven't realized exists today in this sunny southern clime.

Everybody who lives in Glendale ought to be happy. The summer season has been bountiful in crops, successful for business and otherwise auspicious.

And now that the elections are practically settled by the primary there should be greater activity in all lines of endeavor.

This being Admission Day, one more question must be asked. How old is California?

To tell the truth, I'll have to find out myself!

STATE RAIL BOARD REFUSES CHANGE IN P. E. RATES

Glendale and Other Sections In Southland Lose by Commission Ruling

munity or against another class of service.

Claims Complication

"To distinguish between individual freight lines and attempt to fix different freight rates according to the density of traffic and physical characteristics or to segregate individual interurban lines with different mileage and commutation rates for each line according to varying traffic characteristics, or to similarly pick out an individual line of the local service in any city for the establishment of particular rates on such line would not only greatly complicate the entire problem of fixing a reasonable rate but would almost inevitably result in such inequalities both as to rates and service between different communities as would practically result in unjust discrimination."

"Not only have we considered any such method of rate making impossible of practical application but we also believe it is apparent that traffic characteristics on each line are continuously changing. A rate structure based on such a theory would be utterly lacking in stability."

"We have, therefore, adhered to a scheme of rate making, practiced throughout the United States and fully sanctioned by law, which will minimize undue preferences and discrimination between communities and to the greatest possible extent foster the development of an adequate and unified system of transportation."

Refers to Glendale

"In Alhambra and Glendale, where it is contended that local service rates should apply, local service has not in the past existed and is not now in operation. We are not prepared at this time to order the inauguration of local service in addition to the existing interurban service. Until local service is established, we see no justification for establishing local rates."

"It is likely that in the future additional local service will have to be established by the company within a second zone limit on lines where no local service exists at present. The need for such local service will become most urgent probably in the territory that may be served by an extension of the Edendale line between the present terminus of that line and the Southern Pacific crossing at Tropic. This neighborhood is building up rapidly with a character of development that appears to be particularly dependent upon local street car service."

are generally of the same character," states the decision in regard to Glendale, Alhambra, South Pasadena, and Manhattan Beach.

"Objection is made to the rates as being too high and as giving the company a greater revenue and a greater return than is justified."

"It is urged that a particular service to a particular community should be considered on its own merits and not in relation to other services."

The interurban service is thought by petitioners to carry an undue burden of the cost of the system operations. Rate discrimination is charged in favor of the Los Angeles service. It is also claimed that the present rates in providing a separate rate structure for local and interurban transportation violated that part of the constitution which prohibits the charging of a greater rate for transportation as a through rate than the aggregate of intermediate rates.

"Glendale complains also about inadequate depot facilities and inadequate equipment in the Glendale service and protests against the condition of the grades and the railway crossings in the city of Glendale. These matters, it has been arranged, will be taken up directly between the city of Glendale and the company and will not need to be further considered in this proceeding."

End at Hand

ROME, Sept. 9.—Italy has sent notes to Athens and Ankara asking the Greeks and Turks to suspend further hostilities pending the opening of the proposed peace conference at Venice, it was learned today.

Indications are that the end of the war is at hand, as the Greeks are reported to be in flight from Asia-Minor.

Smyrna is in control of the foreign vessels.

Change American Destroyers

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The arrival of the American destroyers Litchfield and Simpson at Smyrna and the return of the destroyer Parrott to Constantinople was reported to the navy department today by Rear Admiral Mark Bristol, the American high commissioner at Constantinople.

Old-Time Auto Man Moves to New Shop

Fred S. Hill, who has been established in Glendale for the last seven years in the automobile repair and general machine work, is now located in his new garage at 124 South Orange street, to the rear of his former location.

Mr. Hill has built an enviable business, specializing in the heavy machine work on cars which is not attempted by many of the smaller garages. He does jobbing for the trade and is equipped to give quick service.

A big feature of Mr. Hill's new garage will be storage for cars as he has room for twenty-five machines within a half block of the business district. Those who desire parking for daytime, a place to put their automobile at night or storage for a period of time will do well to see Mr. Hill at once.

TURKS CLAIMING BIG GREEK LOSS

Soldiers Flee From Asia Minor Coast In Ships, Dispatch Reports

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Turkish nationalist military authorities at Ankara claim that 30,000 Greeks have been killed and 40,000 captured since the Turkish offensive opened on the Anatolian battlefield, said a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Mail.

Turkish cavalry is approaching the suburbs of Smyrna. Greek soldiers are reported in flight from the Asia-Minor coast in ships.

Smyrna is in control of the foreign vessels.

EFFICIENCY

"Son, I'm afraid you are not trying to make yourself useful about the office."

"But, father—"

"I'll admit that the gallantry of your conduct toward our prettiest stenographer could not be improved on. Raising a window to give her fresh air and putting one down to prevent her from catching cold; fetching her a glass of water at frequent intervals and taking her out to lunch is all very well in its way, but it's no great help to the business."

The youthful prodigy, who scored a tremendous success with the Kansas City Grand Opera company here this spring, is now studying the piano.

The United States is the largest user of automobiles in the world, with Canada second.

Beautiful Forest Lawn

"Among the Hills"

There Are But Few Burial Parks

—in the United States—if any—that have planned for a more extensive plan of improvements than has the management of Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Its 250 acres—beautifully improved with a park-like system of landscape gardening and costly buildings. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent—and hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent to complete the various units now under construction.

Everything that art, science and loving care can devise has been planned for different forms of burial—be it earth burial, mausoleum crypt, cremation, columbarium niche or private vault.

LOOK FOR PEACE IN RAIL STRIKE

Expect Adoption of Plan by Roads and Unions; Secret Meetings

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Text of the final rail strike peace agreement, negotiated by B. M. Jewell, and rail executives as the "separate peace" plan was today in the hands of the shop crafts chiefs for action.

The plan, it is expected, will be adopted by railroads aggregating more than 85,000 miles of track as a start off, while no obstacle to union acceptance of the plan is seen.

While no definite decision is expected until the members of the unions policy committee of "20" meet here on Monday, an informal conference of the shopmen's leaders today was expected to have an important bearing on the ultimate action.

Hold Secret Meeting

Yesterday representatives of sixty railroads, controlling one-fourth of the nation's mileage, in the secret meeting here adopted the settlement plan.

Formal notice of the acceptance has been given B. M. Jewell and the ending of the strike on these railroads at least, now rests almost entirely with the shopcrafts policy committee. If the policy committee grants Jewell authority to negotiate a separate settlement the strike will be settled speedily on these roads and transportation tie-ups on 85,000 miles of track removed.

Champion Beggar Is Put on State Farm

BOSTON.—The state farm has received a distinguished resident in the person of William Powers, self-styled "Champion pan handler and cadger in the world," who was sentenced when arrested on a vagrancy charge before Judge Parmenter in Municipal Court.

BUSINESS BEST HERE

Meyer Lightner, manager of the Brunswick Shop at 126 South Brand boulevard, has returned to Glendale after a week's vacation in Ohio.

"Conditions are fair up there but not like southern California," he remarked. "I wouldn't stay up there. Glad to get back? Enthusiastic!"
